Don't want to pay for the cost of a car rental on your next family vacation? Neither do we.

Leave the car keys and added expense at home by choosing a family vacation destination that doesn't require a rental car. In these destinations, public transportation is easy and affordable, or you can easily get to everything by foot. These are the best family vacation destinations that don't require a car rental.

11. Providence, RI

Providence, Rhode Island, is a very walkable city. Families can take a taxi into the downtown area from the airport and then explore everything on foot. The paved sidewalks are easy to navigate and wide enough for a stroller. Highlights in Providence include the seasonal evening event, WaterFire, which takes place along the canals in downtown Providence. Bonfires are lit in the canals, music fills the air and families will be in awe as they walk by the crackling fires. Restaurants and shops fill the city and Providence also has the most donut shops per capita than any other state, so grab one on your stroll through town.
