Newport, Rhode Island

Newport in March may still be chilly, but this coastal city brings the heat when it comes to end-of-winter events. With temperatures averaging 44 degrees, it's an ideal locale for those who don't mind the lingering cold. Families can partake in a plethora of seasonal activities like roasting marshmallows overlooking the Great Lawn at Blithewold, providing a magnificent view of Narragansett Bay or ice skating by the sea at the Newport Harbor Island Resort.

Those who prefer luxury accommodations can book a room at The Brenton or Hammetts Hotel. The latter is a waterfront property that offers premium amenities and fine Italian dining at its onsite restaurant, Giusto.
