

Reader's Digest

100 Fun Things to Do in the Next 100 Days

Leila Najafi

May, June, and July don't have to be a wash if you follow our fun suggestions.

Watch a live stream of animals in their natural habitat

Zoos around the country are live streaming animals and giving viewers zoo tours on its social media pages. The Virginia Zoo offers a daily Virtual Voyage at 2 p.m. EDT on its Facebook page with behind-the-scenes footage of animals. Roger Williams Park Zoo & Carousel Village in Rhode Island broadcasts live every Tuesday and Thursday at 2 p.m. EDT for their "Zoo School" taught by zoo staff and caregivers. Here's what animals have been up to while humans are in quarantine.