19 Summer Weekend Getaways from NYC That You Should Book ASAP

By Sheena Foster | Published Jul 5, 2023

It's okay to admit that sometimes you need a break from the rise and grind of New York City. Summertime in the city brings with it hot, sticky, humid and hazy weather that even die-hard New Yorkers need to escape from. So, when you find yourself in need of just such a break, we've found 19 summer weekend getaways—all within driving distance of the Big Apple—where you can get a much-needed change of scenery while soaking in the sun. Get the R&R you deserve and spend a few days unwinding at one of these local getaways.

12. Ocean House

- Time from NYC: 3 hours
- Location: Watch Hill, Rhode Island

Maybe you want to ditch the Empire State altogether temporarily. We get it. Consider Ocean House in Rhode Island. The Relais & Châteaux property features a saltwater pool, yoga studio and a complimentary fleet of Mercedes Benz convertibles for you to cruise around in. You'll also be waited on hand and foot because Ocean House treats vacationers to a butler service that aims to meet your every need from your room to the beach.
