

Rhode Island invites visitors to explore The Ocean State with the launch of Hotel Month RI in January 2022. Rhode Island expands its previous hotel week offerings into an entire month of savings.

“Based on consumer feedback, we are thrilled to extend the program so more visitors can enjoy the state and Rhode Islanders can enjoy staycations,” said Anika Kimble-Huntley, chief marketing officer, Rhode Island Commerce Corporation. “Hotel Month RI serves as a much-needed boost to tourism and we are grateful to have so many amazing lodging partners participating and ready to show guests the wonderful amenities and superior service they have to offer.”

News from...

10,320 unique
monthly visitors

The promotion offers visitors and locals access to up to 40 percent off rates at a variety of accommodations including hotels, inns and bed & breakfasts. Booking is available now for stays Jan. 1–31, 2022.

Stays at All Seasons Inn & Suites start at $84 per night. Nightly rates at Hotel Providence start at $104. Weekapaug Inn offers 30 percent off nightly rates. More than 30 properties will participate in the offer.

In addition to hotel discounts, restaurants and attractions throughout the state offer special deals celebrating Hotel Month RI.

Check the website for a full listing of accommodations and to book. Kat