

Find your own sweet spot with these 10 New England chocolate makers

Indulge in these high-quality confections

By Linda Laban

JANUARY 10, 2022

Whether your taste runs to bitter dark, creamy milk or luscious white, New England's family-owned craft chocolate factories are a golden ticket to scrumptiousness. Here are 10 makers with confections you won't be able to resist.

Laughing Gull Chocolates - Warren, Rhode Island

Laughing Gull Chocolates — Photo courtesy of Laughing Gull Chocolates

This chocolate maker is based in a community-focused culinary incubator, Hope & Main, surrounded by other craft food producers and farmer's stands. Along with a range of slender chocolate bars, Laughing Gull creates truffles (including seasonal varieties), hot chocolate and chocolate sauce, each made with ethically and locally sourced ingredients. Laughing Gull also has a dedicated vegan range, including coconut and oat milk bars.

One delightful item to sample is the crisp, thin chocolate bark, flavored with sea salt and peanuts or with sesame seeds and matcha tea. Laughing Gull also holds virtual tastings and in-person workshops for would-be chocolatiers.