

10 beautiful lighthouses to visit on the New England coast

Each lighthouse adds its own story to the nation's seafaring history

Newport Harbor Light - Newport, Rhode Island

Newport Harbor Light in Newport, Rhode Island — Photo courtesy of Linda Laban

Across the causeway from downtown Newport, Goat Island is occupied by the Gurney's Newport Resort. However, both in-house guests, other visitors and townspeople walk over to stroll the small island and pass by Newport Harbor Light, also known as Goat Island Light. The beacon was built in 1842 replacing one that dated to 1824. Entrance into the lighthouse is not permitted, but golden hour cocktails on Gurney's outdoor deck make up for that.