

Where to Find 22 of the Coziest Fall Escapes Tailored to Your Travel Style

By Casandra Karpiak | September 13, 2023

As the brisk winds of fall usher in a season of transformation, travelers head for the kaleidoscope of colors that nature paints across America to discover the best places to visit in the fall.

Whether you're a leaf-peeping enthusiast, an adventure seeker, or simply looking for a serene getaway, these destinations have something special in store for every type of traveler. So, grab your sweater and camera, and let's set out to find the best fall foliage escapes in America.

2. Newport, RI

Tiverton and Little Compton, in Newport County, offer excellent leaf-peeping destinations, and the leafy canopied Tiverton Four Corners and Little Compton Historical District are especially charming when the leaves turn, usually in mid-to-late October.

The Norman Bird Sanctuary in Middletown and its seven miles of hiking trails are fantastic any time of year, but they're an especially wonderful place to enjoy the crisp fall air and colors of the season. Rail Explorers lets you take in the sights of autumn by rail bike as you pedal along an old rail corridor underneath vivid foliage overlooking the Ocean.