Best of the West

WELCOME TO SALT LAKE,

Any time is a wonderful time to visit Salt Lake. While we're famous for having the Greatest Snow on Earth, the spring and summer months offer outstanding activities and unique attractions to satisfy every interest.

From many local festivals and farmers' markets, to the variety of cultural offerings and almost unlimited al fresco dining options, there's something to delight daily. Plus, outdoor recreation beckons in the majestic Wasatch Mountains, or experience the nationally-acclaimed shopping in our newly-redeveloped downtown.

Warm days are perfect for a scenic hike, bike ride, picnic or rock-climbing outing. Afterwards, take in a museum or show. Everything is close and inviting. At every turn, you'll likely run into a friendly local who is happy to answer questions or provide a useful tip. The Rocky Mountain sunshine entices all of us to throw open the doors and get out there.

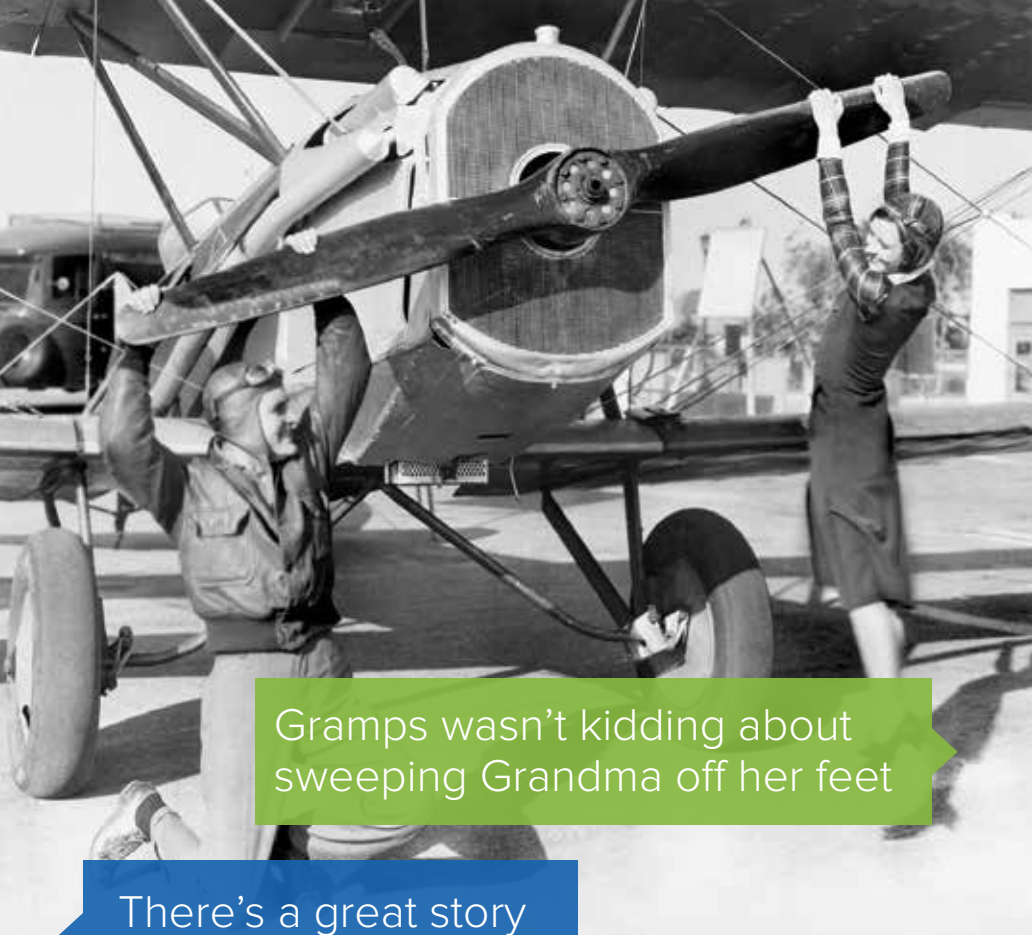

As Mayor of Salt Lake County, I welcome you to our community. Whether you're here for business or pleasure, I hope your stay with us is enjoyable and that you'll return again soon.

Getting ORIENTED

You don't really need your GPS in SLC. The city is built on a grid, and there's public transit everywhere.

(On the Grid)

Salt Lake City is a planned city. Streets throughout the Salt Lake Valley are patterned on a grid system, at the center of which is Temple Square, the spiritual and historical headquarters of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Streets extending outward are named for their directional distance from the Temple: The first to the west is West Temple; to the north is North Temple; to the south, South Temple; and to the east (just to mix things up a bit) is Main Street. From there, the street numbers increase by the hundred for every block. For example, one street south of South Temple is 100 South, the next street is 200 South, and so on. To the east of Main Street is State Street, which runs from the Utah State Capitol building to the end of the valley. The next block east of Main Street is 200 East.

Don't be surprised when you hear streets referred to as "Ninth East" or "Second South." That's just verbal shorthand for 900 East and 200 South respectively. And keep in mind, while navigating Salt Lake City's tidy grid layout, the blocks are typically larger than most metropolitan blocks. Here you'll find seven blocks to the mile compared to the usual 10 to a mile elsewhere.

The Wasatch Range provides another quick orientation check. Like most mountain ranges in the United States, the Wasatch runs north-south, flanking Salt Lake City's eastern edge. The cities and towns along these mountains (from Ogden in the north to Provo in the south) are often referred to as the Wasatch Front. (The range to the distant west is the Oquirrh Mountains.) So, if the Wasatch Mountains are to your right, you're facing north; if on the left, you're facing south.

Wasatch Mountain Canyons

No visit to Salt Lake is complete without a foray into the mountains. Even without its legendary powder snow, Utah's ranges offer an easily accessible Rocky Mountain high. The valley's Wasatch Range, which forms the eastern wall of the Salt Lake Valley, is carved by several spectacular canyons, each providing access to hiking, biking, fishing, birding, rock climbing and other outdoor pursuits.

On the southernmost edge of the Salt Lake Valley is Little Cottonwood Canyon, home to Alta (State Hwy 210, 801-359-1078, alta.com) and Snowbird Ski & Summer Resort (State Hwy 210, 800-232-9542, snowbird.com). Here you can hike, bike or horseback ride through 50,000 acres of pristine wilderness on the backside of the resort's Mineral Basin area. Or play on the alpine slide, Peruvian chairlift, climbing wall and bungee trampolines. If you want to experience the views from 11,000 feet, grab the Bird's tram to the top of Hidden Peak. Or stop by the Alta Lodge (10230 E. State Hwy 210, 800-707-2582, altalodge.com) for a yoga class, eye-popping wildflower hike (in season) or brunch with a view.

The next canyon to the north is Big Cottonwood Canyon where you'll find Solitude (12000 Big Cottonwood Canyon Road, 800-748-4754, skisolitude.com) and Brighton (8302 S. Brighton Loop Road, 800-873-5512, brightonresort.com) resorts. You can hike, bike, and on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, play disc golf. Hitch a ride on Solitude's Sunrise triple chair for high-altitude hiking and mountain biking. From there, visitors may explore miles of singletrack on Diggler Scooters or mountain bikes or explore some of the most geologically diverse terrain in the state by foot.

Urban eccentricities

What's up with the...

HUNTER-ORANGE FLAGS? In 2000, the city installed blazing orange crosswalk flags and holders at crosswalks across the city. Carry and wave flags as mightily as you wish when you cross to alert the folks in the cars. The crosswalk flag program has resulted in a 31 percent decrease in pedestrian injury accidents.

What's up with the...

CHIRPING SIGNS? Our downtown crosswalks chirp with two different signals for blind pedestrians and to create a certain avian ambience. We also give you a handy countdown to aid you in crossing our unusually wide streets.

What's up with the...

GREEN BIKES? A great way to tour SLC's downtown is on a snazzy bike with a basket for your shopping treasures. When you're done, just return to one of the convenient Bike Share stations. Endless half-hour trips for $5 a day or $15 a week. greenbikeslc.org

What's up with the...

BLUE PARKING MACHINES? Just key in the number in front of your car, swipe your credit card, hit a couple buttons and be on your way. It's even easier using a free parking app on your smart phone. Don't worry. The machines also accept coins (no currency) if you're committed to the quarter-and-dime route. parkingslc.com.

Solitude's high alpine course also offers 18 holes of disc golf. For something a bit more cardiovascular, hike from the trailhead 2.8 miles to the base of a beautiful waterfall flowing through a hollowed ring inside the rock. (Get it? Donut Falls!). It's a fun place for a picnic while wondering if the kids scrambling on the foam-slick rocks above know what they are doing. At the top of Big Cottonwood at Brighton lies Silver Lake, featuring 10 miles of trails, fishing, picnic spots and interpretive boardwalks over the lake for moseying. Stop for a snack, soft drink or something a little stronger at the rustic Silver Fork Lodge (11332 E. Big Cottonwood Canyon Road, 888-649-9551, silverforklodge.com) on your way back down to the valley. Access Big and Little Cottonwood Canyons via I-80 eastbound to I-215 south. Take exit 6 and follow the signs.

Big Cottonwood Canyon and Little Cottonwood Canyon ascend from the eastern edge of Salt Lake City, providing immediate access to world-class snowsports.

D. PULSIPHER

Hiking, biking and dog-walking opportunities also abound in Millcreek Canyon. (From Wasatch Boulevard, turn east on 3800 South, which turns into the canyon entrance.) Church Fork to Grandeur Peak, Elbow Fork to Mount Aire and Rattlesnake Gulch are popular, easy-to-moderate trails off the main road in the canyon. Dogs are allowed in Millcreek anytime; off leash on odd-numbered days. Be prepared to pay a $3 usage fee as you exit the canyon. Get trail info at REI, (3285 E. 3300 South, 801-486-2100, REI.com).

Eastbound I-80 runs up the center of the next canyon, Parley's, giving way to the most direct route to Park City and eventually Wyoming. A hearty breakfast or lunch awaits at No Worries Cafe &

Grill at the crest of Parley's summit (185 Aspen Drive, Summit Park, 435-658-5007, noworriescafeandgrill.com).

Emigration and City Creek are the two canyons to the north. Take 800 South (Sunnyside Avenue) past Utah's Hogle Zoo (2600 Sunnyside Ave., 801-582-1631, hoglezoo.org) to the mouth of Emigration Canyon, home to two destination breakfast venues, Ruth's Diner (4160 Emigration Canyon Rd., 801-582-5807, ruthsdiner.com) and the Sun & Moon Café (6281 Emigration Canyon Rd., 801-583-8331, thesunandmooncafe.com). For easy access city-to-wilderness jogging, a stroll or bird watching (especially raptors) head up City Creek Canyon behind the State Capitol Building. This canyon is closed to cars halfway up and paved to the top. (Bikes allowed on odd-numbered calendar days.)

Public Transit

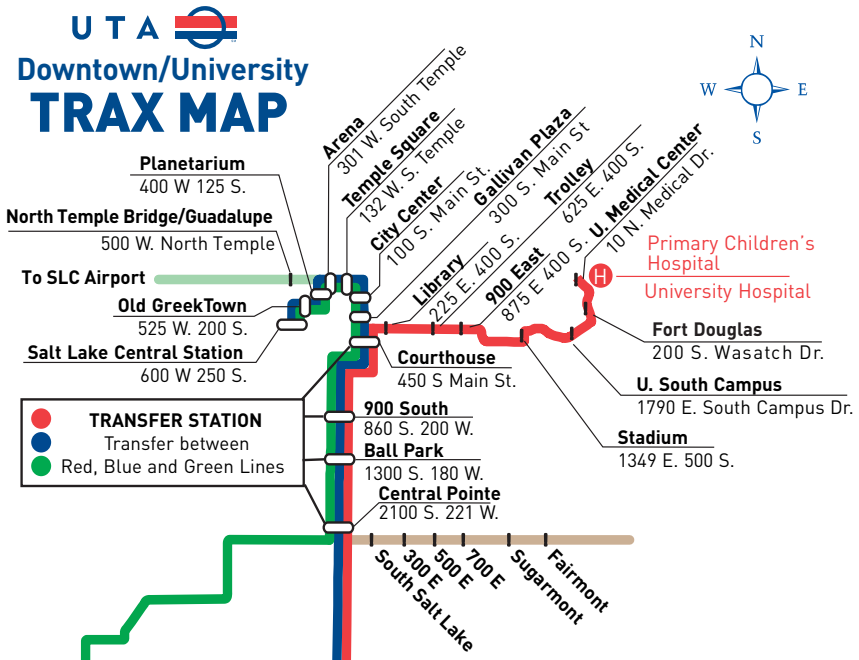

Buses, light rail (TRAX) and high-speed rail (FrontRunner) will smoothly convey you throughout Salt Lake City and around the Wasatch Front. Go to rideuta.com or call 888-743-3882 to access UTA's easy-to-use route finder.

Fares to ride TRAX and local buses are $2.50 for one way, $5 round trip (TRAX only), or $6.25 for a day pass.

The north-south TRAX Blue Line runs from the Salt Lake Central Station Intermodal Hub (600 West) to Pioneer Road (12400 South). The Red Line runs east-west from the Courthouse station to the University of Utah Medical Center. The Green Line takes passengers from West Valley City to the Salt Lake Central Station and runs to Salt Lake City International Airport. Purchase TRAX tickets at platform kiosks before boarding the train. (If you get caught without a ticket, be prepared to pay a fine.) Bus fares can be paid as you board.

Ride TRAX or city buses free of charge within UTA's downtown free-fare zone, an area from the Salt Lake Central Station to 200 East and from the State Capitol to 500 South. Bikes are allowed on TRAX trains; buses are equipped with exterior bike racks. UTA also operates FrontRunner, a 38-mile commuter rail line connecting the Salt Lake Central Station with Ogden's Union Station and the Utah State Railroad Museum to the north and Provo to the south.

UTAH TRANSIT AUTHORITY

Temple Square AND SALT LAKE HISTORY

It's no accident that Temple Square is both the symbolic center of Salt Lake City and the heart of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. On July 24, 1847, after being driven well beyond the U.S. boundaries for their religious beliefs, the Mormons arrived in what is now known as the Salt Lake Valley.

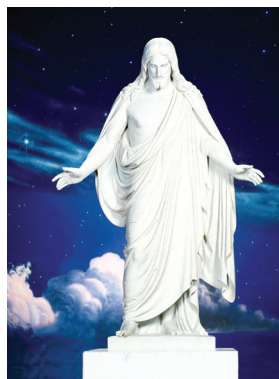

Upon the arrival of the Latter-day Saints in Utah, Church President Brigham Young declared, “This is the place,” and within four days had chosen the site for the Salt Lake Temple and designed the city’s grid layout. The pioneers called their new state Deseret and petitioned for its national recognition in 1849. The United States Congress instead established the Utah Territory. Early Salt Lake population swelled with an influx of religious converts, making it one of the most populous cities in the American Old West.

Polygamy made relations between the Utah Territory and the U.S. government tense for much of the mid-to-late 1800s. Finally, in 1890 the church issued “The Manifesto,” ordering members to obey the government’s marriage laws. Utah achieved statehood six years later.

Temple Square is beautifully landscaped and is the No. 1 tourist attraction in Utah. Three of the buildings on the square were built by the pioneers: the magnificent six-spined granite Salt Lake Temple (which took 40 years to complete); the domed Tabernacle, home of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir and Tabernacle organ; and the Assembly Hall with its white spires and stained glass windows. Two visitors centers offer art galleries, interactive exhibits and an 11-foot replica of Thorvaldsen’s Christus. Private tours of the square are offered in more than 30 languages.

The Family History Library, (35 N. West Temple, 801-240-2584, familysearch.org), is the largest repository of genealogical records in the world, and is free to the public. North of Temple Square is the 21,000-seat Conference Center with a waterfall on the south façade and a four-acre garden on the roof (50 W. North Temple, 801-240-4872, visittemplesquare.com).

Thorvaldsen’s Christus (left) in the Visitors Center and the Garden Tours (below) are all musts on your SLC visit.

CONCERTS ON TEMPLE SQUARE

What’s all the...SINGING ABOUT? Summer is a great season to find musical performances on Temple Square. July 18, the world-famous Mormon Tabernacle Choir presents a concert in celebration of the arrival of the pioneers in the Salt Lake Valley. Performances are free to the public, but you must register for tickets at mormontabernaclechoir.org. As for ongoing events, check out the Tabernacle Organ Recitals that occur Monday through Saturday at noon and Sunday at 2 p.m. Sundays also provide chances to catch the Mormon Tabernacle Choir during the Music and the Spoken Word broadcast, which starts at 9:30 a.m. in the Conference Center. Finally, Thursday evening rehearsals are open to the public (60 W. North Temple, 801-240-4150). For seasonal concerts, visit lds.org.

AN OASIS OF CULTURE

From award-winning micro-breweries and artisanal cocktails to pioneering chefs and a pulsing arts scene, nightlife abounds in Salt Lake City.

Utah Liquor Laws

DRINK LIKE AN ADULT

Besides polygamy, the most pervasive misconception about Utah involves its liquor laws. Yes, you can get a drink in Utah—even on Sundays. With changes in Utah law, the state has seen an explosion of hip nightclubs. Revelers can move between watering holes hassle-free. Common sense and good manners about alcohol consumption, of course, need to be followed.

A couple things may throw you a curve: Those black contraptions on liquor bottles are required by the Utah Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control to insure a precise one-and-a-half-ounce shot of liquor. Your bartender and waiter are trained to help newcomers navigate the ins and outs of getting a superb drink.

When entering a restaurant with your kids, you may be asked to sit in a specific area. Minors, even with parents, are not allowed in the bar areas of restaurants.

Outside of restaurants, bars and taverns, liquor, wine and “heavy” beer (above 4 percent content by volume) can be purchased at state liquor stores (heavy beer at some craft breweries), which are closed on Sundays. But bars and restaurants sell alcoholic drinks on Sunday, and you can get 4 percent beer—3.2 by weight—at grocery and convenience stores, even on Sundays in most municipalities.

A Rainbow Melting Pot

THE UTAH PIONEERS WERE FOLLOWED BY THE WORLD

Though members of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter-day Saints founded Utah, Salt Lake culture doesn't revolve around any particular religion. In fact, religious and cultural variety is one of the defining things about Salt Lake, which is about half Mormon. Take a tour of the historic Cathedral of the Madeleine (331 E. South Temple, 801-328-8941, saltlakecathedral.org) or meditate at the Salt Lake Buddhist Temple (211 W. 10 South, 801-363-4742, slbuddhist.org). Groups from Greeks to Polynesians to Ethiopians have brought their culture and cuisine to the city.

And Salt Lake has won praise from the Advocate magazine as the gayest city in America, partly because of gay bars such as nationally known Club Jam (751 N. 300 West, 801-891-1162, JAMSLC.com), not to mention the Utah Pride Festival (801-539-8800, utahpridefestival.org) that runs three days in June with dance parties and the second-largest parade in Utah.

Salt Lake's Mexican Americans add spice to the city through Fiesta Mexicana (801-364-8900, fiestamexicanasl.org), a non-profit organization that celebrates Mexican arts and traditions, including a Mexican Independence Day celebration held every September at the Utah State Fairpark (155 N. 1000 West, 801-538-8400, utahstatefairpark.com).

The best way to sample all of Salt Lake's diversity is the Living Traditions Festival (801-596-5000, livingtraditionsfestival.com) on Washington Square in May, where you can hear klezmer music, watch Greek dancing and toss a bocce ball.

Friday

AFTERNOON

Get the lay of the grid system and take a stroll. Temple Square is to the north, the University of Utah and the Wasatch Mountains are to the east and Salt Lake City International Airport is a short drive to the west. Salt Lake City is famous for its wide streets—wide enough, said Brigham Young, for a team of oxen to do a U-turn—that radiate out from central Temple Square. Refresh yourself with a cold beer at the Beehive's ice bar. (128 S. Main St., 801-364-4268)

EVENING

Keep it downtown tonight: stop in for a cocktail at sophisticated Bambara (202 S. Main St., 801-363-5454, bambara-slc.com) or hipster Bar-X (155 E. 200 South, 801-532-9114, barsaltlake.com) behind the blazing sign. Call to reserve your key at Bodega (331 S. Main, 801-521-4042, bodega331.com) and wine and dine at Salt Lake's only speakeasy. Or join the throng at Copper Onion (111 E. Broadway, 801-364-4268, copperonion.com) where you can always eat at the bar.

Saturday

MORNING

Stop in at Eva's Boulangerie (155 S. Main St., 801-355-3942, evasbakery.com) for a French-style breakfast of croissant and café au lait or for a full American-style repast of quiche and potatoes. Then trek across town to the City Library (210 E. 400 South, 801-524-8200, slcpl.org) and enjoy the rooftop garden with its 360-degree view. Check out the Leonardo (209 E. 500 South, 801-531-9800, theleonardo.org) next door for a new take on art and science.

AFTERNOON

Every visitor should hear the pin drop in the Tabernacle (50 W. North Temple, 801-240-4872, visittemple-square.com), a pioneer marvel of architecture and acoustics built by the early Saints. Just up the hill, Utah's beautiful Capitol Building (300 N. State St., 801-538-3074, utah-statecapitol.utah.gov) was recently restored and its murals and design details shine in their full glory.

EVENING

Take in the Wasatch Mountains' rugged scenery with a drive up a nearby canyon for dinner. Log Haven in Mill Creek Canyon (6451 E. Millcreek Canyon Road, 801-272-8255, log-haven.com) is housed in a picturesque old log cabin.

Sunday

MORNING

Swing by Salt Lake magazine Dining Award winner Left Fork Grill (68 W. 3900 South, 801-266-4322, leftforkgrill.com). Corned beef hash and smoked-trout scramble are great, but the pies, made from Chef Jeff Master's momma's recipes, could be the high point of your visit. Linger over a last cup of java and another slice of pie—Salt Lake City International is only minutes away.

A WALK IN THE PARKS

Despite the wilderness surrounding it, Salt Lake City's early planners wisely made room for lots of in-town green space.

LIBERTY PARK The oldest and largest park in town, Liberty Park's huge swathe of space welcomes joggers, cyclists, rowers and picnickers. There's a swimming pool, treeless fields for kickball and soccer and tennis courts as well as the Tracy Aviary. The Seven Canyons Fountain is everyone's favorite wading spot. (600 W. 900 South)

SUGARHOUSE PARK Situated on over a thousand acres of rolling green space, Sugar House Park is centered by a small lake and threaded with jogging trails. (1300 E. 2100 South, sugarhousepark.org)

PIONEER PARK Tennis courts, basketball courts, a jogging trail and a dog park are a few attractions of this urban space, but its main events are the summertime Twilight Concerts and the Saturday Farmers Market, a seasonal showcase of local foods and farm produce (300 S. 300 West). Public Transportation

Utah Transit Authority (UTA)

The UTA provides more than 100 bus routes throughout an 1,800 square-mile area. UTA also provides light rail service (TRAX), commuter trains (FrontRunner), airport transportation and door-to-door transportation for disabled passengers. Fares within the valley are $2.50 one-way or $6.25 for an all-day pass. A free fare zone is in effect in areas of SLC's downtown. (801-743-3882, rideuta.com)

Airport Transportation

The airport is just 10 minutes from downtown with taxis, limos, buses and shuttles providing service to anywhere in the valley and to the resorts. One-way taxi fare from the airport to downtown is approximately $14, and $2.50 on the airport TRAX line. Some hotels provide complimentary airport shuttle service. For more information, refer to the Lodging section of this guide (page 114).

Driving Laws

Safety belts are required by law in Utah. All occupants of private vehicles should be wearing safety restraints. Children should be secured in car seats or safety belts. Utah also has strict drinking laws. A blood alcohol content of .08 percent or more is considered “driving under the influence,” and you will be arrested and charged with a crime. Also consider that Salt Lake is 4,330 feet above sea level. Consume alcohol cautiously as it has more effect at this altitude, and even more at ski area altitudes of 7,000–11,000 feet.

AIN'T NOTHING TO DO BUT Have Fun!

The list of cool stuff to do in Salt Lake is long and eclectic—beyond fine dining, nightclubs and craft beer, the city offers museums, art galleries, theater and shopping. Salt Lake's Wild-West-meets-cosmopolitan sophistication is ideal for a vacation that's anything but ordinary.

Utah's Hogle Zoo

A World of Animals

More than 800 animals reside east of downtown at the well-kept Hogle Zoo, including red pandas, an Amur leopard, giraffes and a Siberian tiger. New at the Hogle is Rocky Shores, a multi-million-dollar ecosystem of sea lions, seals, a polar bear named Rizzo and other denizens of the deep. But also swing by to meet Zuri, the baby African elephant born at the zoo who basically runs the place. The Hogle Zoo is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day except Christmas and New Year's Day. (2600 E. The Leonardo

Where Science Collides with Art
“The Leo” museum of science, art and innovation is sometimes difficult to describe in a word or two. Though it offers hands-on exhibits, the Leo is anything but a kids’ museum. Think of Leonardo Da Vinci himself—artist, scientist and inventor—and you’ll begin to understand The Leo experience. The Leonardo is open Sun. through Wed. from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Thurs.-Sat. from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. (209 E. 500 South, 801-531-9800, theleonardo.org)

CLARK PLANETARIUM; ADAM FINKLE

Clark Planetarium and IMAX Theater

The Universe and Beyond

Take in a laser light show or IMAX movie, shop the well-stocked Planet Fun Store or simply check out one of the planetarium's free exhibits, including the Foucault Pendulum, Moon and Mars scapes, Weight on Other Worlds or the International Space Station. Special presentations on Black Holes, the Hubble Telescope and cosmic light shows entertain in the 360-degree Hansen Dome Theatre, along with IMAX blockbusters and documentaries. The planetarium opens daily at 10:30 a.m. Closing time depends on the show schedule. (110 S. 400 West, 801-456-7827, clarkplanetarium.org)

This Is the Place

Pioneer Utah

Explore pioneer history in a meticulously reconstructed 1850s Utah village. Kids can ride ponies, pet farm animals and try a hand at milking ol' Clara Bell. After talking shop with a real blacksmith or saddle maker, hop a train to the Shoshone or Navajo villages where the kids can visit a teepee or hogan, then grind corn and make arrowheads. 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday. (2601 E. Sunnyside Ave., 801-582-1847, thisistheplace.org)

Red Butte Garden

The Oasis on the Hill

The University of Utah's botanical and ecological center, Red Butte Garden, features plants native to the state and climate via hillside gardens accessible by winding trails. Careful records are kept on the various themed gardens, like the Fragrance Garden and the Rose Garden. You can find out what is blooming right now by visiting their website. Also look into the summer concerts—Monday night cultural concerts for families and a summer-long slate of national touring acts. (300 Wakara Way, 801-581-4747, redbuttegarden.org)

Thanksgiving Point

Back to the Land

Gardens, a barnyard, cooking classes, restaurants, movie theaters and one of the world's largest collections of dinosaur fossils can all be found at Thanksgiving Point. Some of the coolest stuff to do here includes digging like an archaeologist in the erosion table at the Museum of Ancient Life, interacting with exhibits in the Museum of Natural Curiosity, watching a documentary about bugs and other creepy-crawlies in the 3-D theater or just strolling in the gardens. (3003 N. Thanksgiving Way, Lehi, 801-768-2300, thanksgivingpoint.com)

Natural History Museum of Utah

Your Own Jurassic Park

Utah is home to one of the highest concentrations of dinosaur fossils in the world, many of which were discovered by Natural History Museum of Utah paleontologists. The museum's collection of natural wonders and cultural artifacts is on spectacular display in a museum built (literally) into the hillside above the University of Utah, offering stunning views of the valley below and a geological context.

(301 Wakara Way, 801-581-6927, NHMU.utah.edu)

Utah Museum of Fine Arts

The State's Art Gallery

The museum on the University of Utah campus is the beating heart of Utah's visual art scene. Though its collection includes the best of Utah and internationally known artists and the finest collection of the landscapes that Utah's outrageous natural beauty inspires, UMFA is anything but stodgy. The museum's commitment to contemporary art guarantees exhibitions that surprise and challenge the most sophisticated visitors. Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday; 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday & Sunday.

Kids'

STUFF TO DO

Any parent will tell you: If the kids aren't happy, then nobody's happy. Make your Utah visit fun for everybody, toddlers to teens, with this Salt Lake-area list of kid-friendly things to do.

Parks

The sprawling Sugar House Park (900 S. 700 East, sugarhousepark.org) may just be a park, but it feels like a destination. Feed the ducks, hang from the monkey bars or toss a Frisbee (1300 E. 2100 South).

A central promenade lined with Cottonwood trees gives Liberty Park (900 S. 700 East, slcgov.com/cityparks) a big-city park feel. Your kids won't care, however. They'll be too busy bugging you to ride the ferris wheel or cough up admission to bird haven, Tracy Aviary, (801-972-7800, tracyaviary.org) which is located at the park.

The quiet, east bench Canyon Rim Park is nice for a more sedate picnic lunch and a great place for children to ride bikes (2900 E. 3100 South, parks.slco.org).

Pack a lunch, and give your kids a lesson in cultural diversity at the International Peace Gardens, where the plaster replica of the

Thanksgiving Point

Matterhorn, serene red Chinese pavilion and Danish little mermaid all coexist in peace (1000 S. 900 West, internationalpeacegardens.org).

Sporty

Let them climb the walls like monkeys at Rockreation's indoor climbing wall. Kids' time is on Wednesdays and Fridays from 4 to 6 p.m. Harness and shoes included (2074 E. 3900 South, 801-278-7473, rockreation.com).

Ride the zipline or watch the pros in a Saturday freestyle aerial show at the Utah Olympic Park (3419 Olympic Parkway, Park City, 801-658-4200, utaholympiclegacy.com).

Watch your kids ollie into a backside-tail slide on a rail at Sugar House's Fairmont Skate Park (2361 S. 900 East).

Channel excessive energy into the bow at Salt Lake Archery (1130 E. Wilmington Ave., 801-486-8242, saltlakearchery.com). Or let 'em bounce off the walls, literally, at Kangaroo Zoo (395 N. Redwood

Kids' Night Out

Need some adult time? Take the kids to the Little Gym for a little gymnastics-specific play while you hit the town. LITTLE GYM PARENTS' SURVIVAL NIGHTS are offered on select Friday nights for kids ages 3 to 12 from 6:30 to 10 p.m. 1400 Foothill Dr., 801-581-9866, tlgsaltlakecityut.com.

Tracy Aviary

Rd., 801-295-1900, kangarozoo.net).

Museums

Touch a dino bone, explore a silver mine, or predict the weather at the Natural History Museum of Utah (301 Wakara Way, 801-581-6927, NHMU.utah.edu). Marvel at dinosaur fossils or participate in an archaeological excavation at the North American Museum of Ancient Life (2929 Thanksgiving Way, Lehi, 801-615-4093, thanksgivingpoint.com).

Do your kids aspire to build homes, fly helicopters or practice medicine? They can try it (and lots more) at the Discovery Gateway Children's Museum (444 W. 100 South, 801-456-5437, discoverygateway.org).

Free or Super Cheap Things to Do

Ride the rails within TRAX'S FREE FARE ZONE from Salt Lake Central Station to the Main Library. (rideuta.com). Then check out the Salt Lake City skyline from the spectacular MAIN LIBRARY'S rooftop garden, before going inside to hang out in the library's huge juvenile section (210 E. 400 South, 801-524-8200, slcpl.org). Further south, CABELA'S aquarium features local trout, bass and other fish. At feeding time, when gallons of minnows get tossed into the pool, things get really interesting

Both the Utah Museum of Fine Arts (left) and Utah Museum of Contemporary Art (above) have exhibits, programs and activities for adults and children alike.

Wet

Cool off at one of the many Salt Lake area outdoor pools at Salt Lake City Sports Complex (645 S. Guardsman Way, 385-468-1925, recreation.slco.org), I.J. and Jeanne Wagner Jewish Community Center (2 N. Medical Dr., 801-581-0098, slcjcc.org), and waterpark Cowabunga Bay (12047 S. State St., Draper, 801-553-1000, cowabungabay.com). Most pools are open Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Get a bird's-eye view of the Wasatch Front's topography while cooling off at Liberty Park's Seven Canyons Fountain. Kids are encouraged to wade in the one-inch-deep "rivers" that run from "mountains" into a foot-deep "Great Salt Lake" (900 S. 500 East). Or play in the Olympic Snowflake Fountain at the Gateway mall (18 N. Rio Grande St., 801-456-0000, shopthegateway.com). Stay long enough to catch the choreographed water show at the top of every hour.

Artsy

Discover more than 18,000 objects from ancient works to contemporary art at the Utah Museum of Fine Arts (410 Campus Center Dr., 801-581-7332, umfa.utah.edu). Admission is free on the first Wednesday and the third Saturday of every month. Otherwise, admission for kids ages 6 to 18 is $5; ages 6 and under get in free.

Kid-friendly: Hiking

For specific trail information, visit trails.com

HIDDEN FALLS TRAIL, Big Cottonwood Canyon: Just 1.5 miles round trip, this itty-bitty hike is good for itty-bitty boots.

CECRET LAKE, Little Cottonwood Canyon: Just 1.5 miles up and back, with a beautiful lake and perfect picnic spot at the top.

DONUT FALLS, Big Cottonwood Canyon: A gradual climb to a waterfall that flows through a doughnut-shaped rock. Round trip is 3.5 miles.

ENSIGN PEAK, Trailhead is located on Ensign Vista Drive above the Utah State Capitol: This half-mile hike to what is one of Utah's most beautiful and historic sites affords spectacular views of the valley below.

Watch classic stories like Jack and the Beanstalk, The Princess and the Pea, Busytown and Sleeping Beauty come to life on the intimate, black stage at The Children's Theatre. Audience members must be age 4 and up (3605 S. State St., 801-532-6000, uctheatre.org).

Get your family art on at the Utah Museum of Contemporary Art (20 S. West Temple, 801-328-4201, utahmoca.org), which hosts free drop-in family art projects the second Saturday of each month from 2 to 4 p.m.

Olympic LEGACY ATTRACTIONS

It's an Olympic year and Utah cherishes its legacy of hosting one of the most spectacular Olympic Winter Games in history. You can still experience the "thrill of victory and agony of defeat" at several of the 2002 competition venues.

Salt Lake, as the 2002 host of a successful and memorable Olympic Winter Games, joined an exalted club of former Olympic cities around the world, the last being Sochi, Russia. Visitors to Utah will encounter plaques and pylons that welcomed the world's athletes and are preserved as tributes to their competitive spirit. You can even ski, sled and skate at venues where medals were won.

The Utah Olympic Park

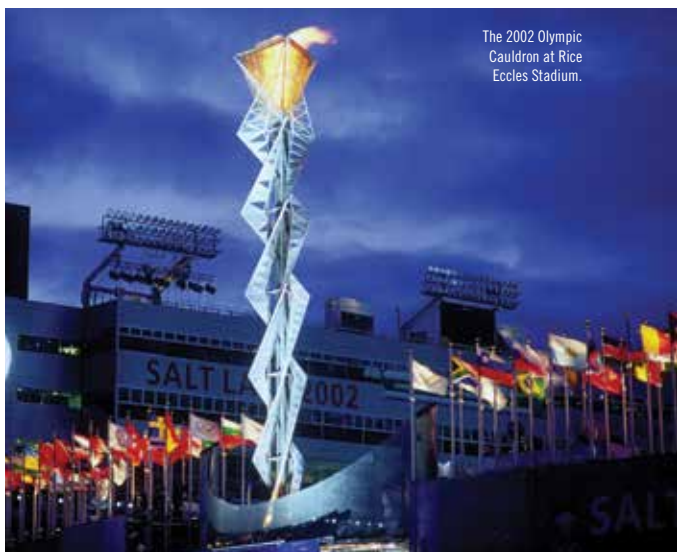

Likely Utah's most complete Olympic legacy attraction, this park is home to the bobsled, luge, and skeleton track; the K90 and K120 Nordic jumps; the Alf Engen Ski Museum; 2002 Eccles Olympic Museum, extensive photographs and a film. Test your skills and problem solving on log traverses, swinging ropes and a zip line. (Courses for kids, too!) (3419 Olympic Parkway, Park City, 435-658-4200, olymparks.com)

The Utah Olympic Oval

Home to the "Fastest Ice on Earth," this huge facility may appear imposing from the outside, but inside feels like a small town ice rink. Skaters of all levels can glide around the Oval's two international-size ice sheets or watch the athletes train on the 400-meter skating oval. You can also take a swim or work out in the gym at the Kearns Oquirrh Park Fitness Center located right next to the Oval. (5662 S. Cougar Lane, Kearns, 801-968-6825, olymparks.com)

Soldier Hollow Resort

Just outside of Midway (an uber cute, Euro-inspired burg on the Wasatch Back) is Soldier Hollow Resort. Cross-country skiing and biathlon competitions took place here in 2002. Now, a variety of warm-weather activities are offered at this full-fledged outdoor recreation center, including horseback riding, mountain biking and golf at the 36-hole Soldier Hollow Golf Course. A popular Labor Day Weekend event is the Soldier Hollow Sheepdog Championships.

Family Search Center

ADAM FINKLE

CLIMBING YOUR Family Tree

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is serious about preserving its genealogy records. All Family History Library record originals are kept at the Granite Records Vault in the mountains near the mouth of Little Cottonwood Canyon, but the digital information is available to everyone.

In 1894, the Mormons started gathering genealogical records to help members trace their family history. The church's Family History Library (35 N. West Temple, 801-240-2584, familysearch.org) is now the largest of its kind in the entire world. In other words, if you've come to Salt Lake to find out where your great-great-great-great-grandmother was born, you've come to the right place.

Use of the Family History Library is not limited to Latter-day Saints church members. Anyone can enter the library and use any of the resources to trace their family tree, free of charge. More than 300 computers are available for use in the five-floor, 145,000-square-foot library. Resources here include vital records like birth and death certificates, marriage licenses, census returns, property, probate and cemetery records, among many others. The only catch is that the Family History Library's collection focuses on persons who lived before 1930—meaning you need to have at least immediate information about your family. This is not the place to look up people you've lost touch with in this lifetime.

For novice family history researchers, be sure to visit the Family Search Center in the lower floor of the nearby Joseph Smith Memorial Building (50 E. South Temple, 801-534-4912, familysearch.org). The smaller, less-exhaustive center, is home to 100 specially-designed terminals that allow visitors to perform basic searches for family members and dip a toe into the deep waters of genealogical research.

More than 4,500 Family History Centers—branches of the Family History Library—operate around the world, making tracing your ancestry near your hometown easy.

The Lion House

LION HOUSE PANTRY

fare is satisfyingly homespun and uncomplicated. Favorites include the turkey pot pie, Coca-Cola pork loin, and the famous rolls. Sit in the Victorian dining room or outside on the patio. But it's not the food that makes the Lion House really interesting—it's the building's past. Brigham Young, who led the Mormon pioneers across the Great Plains to Utah and founded Salt Lake City, lived in both the Lion House and Beehive House next door with 27 wives and 56 children. Young commissioned architect Truman O. Angell, his brother-in-law, to design both houses. Young died in the Lion House in 1877. It's been a designated National Historic Landmark since 1964. 63 E. South Temple, 801-539-3257, templesquarehospitality.com

Using the Library

Casual genealogists will want to use the Family Search Center in the Joseph Smith Memorial Building (familysearch.org) where they can get one-on-one help from family history experts with family history. It's free, has a relaxed atmosphere and offers hands-on activities for kids and teens. Before you go, have your photo taken in front of a backdrop of the wharf at Ellis Island with the Statue of Liberty in the harbor.

For serious researchers, The Family History Library is open Mondays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday to Friday 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Hours may change during holidays. For a full schedule, visit familysearch.org.

Start by finding as much information as you can about your ancestors. The library focuses on records before 1930 because of privacy restrictions. Ask for a library worksheet. And bring a big flash drive to save your family history info.

You can't check out books, but you can make copies for five cents each. The library doesn't have its own parking lot, but you can park at nearby garages or pay for on-street parking at the blue meters (parkingslc.com).

KICK BACK AT SLC'S Outdoor Concerts

Salt Lake has a reputation for offering outdoor concerts in breathtaking vistas. Check with the venues for times, bands and prices.

Red Butte Garden Amphitheater

Situated in a canyon and adjacent to an arboretum, Red Butte Garden's amphitheater (300 Wakara Way, 801-585-0556, redbuttegarden.org) is probably the most beautiful place on earth for a summer concert. (Just ask David Byrne or Bonnie Raitt.) The scene goes full-on spectacular as the sun sets and the alpenglow bathes the mountains above. Pack a blanket, snacks and a bottle of wine and settle in for artists that have ranged from Bob Dylan to Al Greene. This summer, Grammy award-winning singer-songwriter Ray LaMontagne is in the line up. Tour the arboretum for free before the show.

Red Butte Garden
Amphitheater

Twilight Concert Series

Stroll over to Pioneer Park (300 S. 300 West) on Thursday nights for a high-energy music scene. Bands at Twilight (slcgov.com/arts) skew towards a younger, hipster audience with artists like The Flaming Lips and Erykah Badu. Food trucks, beer and hand-made crafts are available, and the park is surrounded with excellent restaurants for pre- and post-concert dining. Start the night with dinner at Tin Angel Cafe (365 W. 400 South, 801-328-4155, thetinangel.com) listening distance from the park.

Gallivan Center

Right in the center of the beating heart of downtown, you can find open-air music from country and bluegrass to hip-hop at the Gallivan Center, or what its promoters like to call “Salt Lake’s Living Room” (50 E. 200 South, 801-535-6110, thegallivancenter.com). If there isn’t an evening concert scheduled, you’ll usually find a movie, lunch-time concerts or some sort of festival bubbling at Gallivan.

Snow Park Outdoor Amphitheater

Come spring, Deer Valley Resort’s main slope blossoms as a fabulous outdoor concert scene with top artists and a lively crowd (2250 Deer Valley Dr., Park City, 435-649-1000, deervalley.com). Past concerts have included Steve Martin and the Steep Canyon Rangers, Michele Branch, the Goo-Goo Dolls and the Utah Symphony. Just show up with a blanket, food, wine and a jacket—it can get chilly when the sun goes down. Or, better yet, order the resort’s gourmet picnic baskets that include choices of wine, smoked salmon, chilled beef and artisan cheese.

Canyons and Snowbird resorts

Canyons Resort (4000 Canyons Resort Dr., Park City, 435-649-5400, canyonsresort.com) and Snowbird Resort (Little Cottonwood Canyon, 801-933-2222, snowbird.com) offer laid-back and free outdoor concerts with nationally known performers (Alejandro Escovedo isn’t anything to sneeze at) that are also kid-friendly.

Game Time

BECOME A LOCAL FAN

Like most American cities, sports are a vital part of life in Salt Lake. Rare is a weekend when the pros (or semi-pros) aren't tossing or kicking the ball around the court or field. And because Salt Lake has a much smaller population than other major metropolitan areas, tickets are pretty easy to come by.

REAL SALT LAKE

Real Salt Lake emerged from obscurity in November 2009 when they became the Major League Soccer champions. Most recently, RSL was the 2013

MLS Western Conference Champions.

Real home games are played at Rio Tinto Stadium in Sandy, (9256 S. State St., 801-727-2700, realsaltlake.com) just south of Salt Lake (a 15-minute walk from the 9000 S. 200 East TRAX station). The season runs from March through the end of October, with playoffs in November.

THE BEES

Nothing says summer like sitting in the ball park, a cold brew in one hand, hot dog in the other, passing time, watching America's pastime. The Salt Lake Bees are the top Triple-A affiliate of the Los Angeles Angels. The Bees' home games are April to mid-September at the casual, family-friendly Smith's Ballpark (77 W. 1300 South, 801-325-2273, slbees.com). Take a seat or bring a blanket and spread out on the huge lawn on the field's east and south sides. Games are super-cheap.

UTAH JAZZ

Salt Lake is home to the NBA's Utah

Jazz, which play downtown at the 19,000-seat EnergySolutions Arena (301 W. South Temple, 801-325-2000, utahjazz.com). The team is in action from October to April. Even when the Jazz aren't present, basketball fans make a pilgrimage to the plaza where a statue of John Stockton passes to Karl Malone for eternity. EnergySolutions Arena is a concert and event venue and usually you'll find something to see from ice shows to circuses to national rock and country bands.

Salt Lake Bees

THE UTES

Salt Lake City is really at its heart just a big college town and the proud home to the University of Utah Runnin' Utes football, basketball and gymnastics teams (utahutes.com). All three play in the winter season and all three are rising powers in the world of collegiate athletics. The Utes joined the Pac-12 conference in 2011, elevating its status nationally and boosting the atmosphere on campus and in town to Code Red. Before home football games, every foot of space on campus is packed with tailgating fans, who provide as much excitement and fun as the game itself.

The 46,000-seat Rice-Eccles Stadium on the rise west of downtown (451 S. 1400 East, 801-581-5445, stadium.utah.edu) is worth a visit anytime (hop on the TRAX university line). The stadium has been home to concerts ranging from U2 and Rolling Stones to the 2002 Olympic Winter Games Opening and Closing Ceremonies.

Dress Like a Fan Get the Gear

Plan on nibbling on Cracker Jack while watching the hometown Bees battle it out at Smith's Ballpark or sipping a michelada as Real Salt Lake takes the field at Rio Tinto Stadium? Better look the part. Visit FANZZ (EnergySolutions Arena, 301 W. South Temple, 801-325-2773, fanzz.com) for Real jerseys, Bees caps, Jazz knicknaks and loads of Utah red.

HAPPY Trails

You don't know Utah until you've hiked or biked its canyons.

TRAIL DIFFICULTY LEVEL

● Beginner ■ Intermediate ◆ Advanced

Before riding any trail, check with a local bike shop about restrictions.
Some trails are accessible by bike only on even days.

Ensign Peak ■

A short drive from downtown hotels and a mile of uphill hiking will earn you a breathtaking panoramic view of Salt Lake City, the Great Salt Lake and the valley's beloved surrounding mountains. A monument at the summit commemorates Brigham Young's 1847 climb to survey the Mormon promised land.

How to get there: Take State Street north up Capitol Hill, follow the street through the neighborhood as it veers to the right and turns into East Capitol Boulevard. Turn left on to Ensign Vista Trail. You'll see the trail head.

Apres-hike: A glass of syrah at Wild Grape Bistro. (481 E. South Temple, 801-746-5565, wildgrapebistro.com)

Mount Olympus ◆

Named after the 'hood of Greek Gods, this strenuous 7.5-mile, 5,000-foot climb is almost a Salt Lake rite of passage. But any fit hiker can make it to the top if they start early in the day and take it slow. The view from the top is worth the climb.

Ensign Peak at sunset

How to get there: Take 4500 South to Wasatch Boulevard to a big parking area

Mount Olympus trail

Albion Basin

CARFULL...COWBOY STATER

(and you'll want to be there at 5 a.m. to get a spot on summer weekends). A sign will cue you to the trailhead.

Après-hike: Grilled octopus and a glass of Greek wine at Aristo's Restaurant (where else?). (224 S. 1300 East, 801-581-088)

Albion Basin and Beyond ●

In season (July-August), you'll experience four miles of retina-blowing wildflowers.

How to get there: Drive up Little Cottonwood Canyon past Alta, and up to Albion Basin Campground. The trail begins from the west side of the campground. If you need more beauty and exercise, keep on a mile to Cecret Lake (let the kids figure out the spelling).

Après-hike: Relax over a libation at the Shallow Shaft, which has one of Utah's best wine lists. (Downtown Alta, 801-742-2177, shallowshaft.com)

Willow Heights

PHOTO GEOMOR

Donut Falls ■

After less than two uphill miles this hike arrives at a waterfall pouring out of a hole in the granite (the “doughnut”).

How to get there: Drive 10 miles up Big Cottonwood Canyon to the Mill D trailhead. Start the hike near Mill D South Fork Road just past the Jordan Pines rest and picnic area. Take a fresh memory card for your camera.

Après-hike: A pint of Chasing-Ape at Porcupine Pub. (3698 E. Fort Union Blvd., 801-733-5567, porcupinepub.com)

Silver Lake, Twin Lakes and Lake Solitude ■

The child-friendly Silver Lake Trail follows a boardwalk around a crystal-clear alpine lake dotted with markers explaining the wildlife and geology. More difficult (kids can handle it) trails on the far side lead to Twin Lakes and Lake Solitude. Keep an eye peeled for cute, whistling pikas and even moose.

How to get there: Drive all the way up Big Cottonwood Canyon and look for the Nordic Center on your right.

Après-hike: Commune with the hummingbirds on the deck of Silver Fork Lodge and sip one of the local beers on tap. (11332 E Big Cottonwood Canyon, 888-649-9551, silverforklodge.com)

Snowbird Barrier-free Trail ●

The wheel-chair-accessible trail winds through meadows and aspens to a lookout that provides views of Little Cottonwood and the Salt Lake Valley.

How to get there: Park at the Cliff Lodge at Snowbird Ski Resort. The trail begins at the bridge near the Snowbird Center.

Après-hike: A margarita at El Chanate in the Cliff Lodge. (801-933-2025, snowbird.com)

Willow Heights ●

This short but very sweet hike in Big Cottonwood Canyon follows a creek through aspens to a beaver pond.

How to get there: Drive up Big Cottonwood Canyon and continue half a mile past Silver Fork Lodge. Look for a stone trail marker on your left.

Après-hike: Roll down canyon for a milkshake at Solitude’s Stone Haus Pizzeria and Creamery. (801-536-5767, skisolitude.com)

Living Traditions Festival

TAKE IT Outside

Salt Lake City celebrates its beautiful summers by taking it all outside. Hardly a day goes by without an outdoor festival, concert, or farmers market. Take your pick.

The 16th Annual Great Salt Lake Bird Festival

May 15-19

Birdwatchers from all over the U.S. come to enjoy the Great Salt Lake's unique ecosystem—desert-wetland-mountain—with friends and local experts. Attendees are welcome to come and go from this event as they please. Maps are available on-line or at the Festival information booth. (greatsaltlakebirdfestival.com)

The Living Traditions Festival

May 16-May 18

This annual festival presents and celebrates the folk music, dance, crafts and foods of the dozens of ethnic communities that make Salt Lake City their home. It's held on the grounds of the historic Salt Lake City & County Building downtown. (801-596-5000, livingtraditionsfestival.com)

CHRIS SIMON

The 2014 Cowboy Legends Show

May 24-27

Held at the historic Fielding Garr Ranch on Antelope Island, this festival celebrates the cowboy and ranching history of Utah with western arts and crafts, food vendors, horse and buggy rides, musical performances and, of course, cowboy poetry. (cowboylegendsai.com)

Tastemakers

May 29-30

This downtown festival and stroll-around to some of the city's best restaurants includes a central pavilion and a map and guide to downtown eateries. Over two nights, guests can sample a taste from each participating restaurant. (801-485-5100, tastemakersutah.com)

The 2014 Utah Pride Festival

June 6-8

Featuring the second-largest parade in the state, Utah's Gay Pride is a weekend-long party at Washington and Library Squares in downtown Salt Lake City and includes a film festival, a 5K charity run, a full roster of performers and an interfaith service. (801-539-8800, utahpridecenter.org)

Utah Asian Festival

June 14, 2014

This day-long festival and exposition celebrates the cultures of China, Japan, Korea, Thailand, the Philippines, Laos, Vietnam, Tibet, Hawaii and this year's spotlight country, Cambodia, with an Asian Marketplace, a children's activity center and Utah-Asian artists exhibit celebrating Year of Horse at the South Towne Expo Center in Sandy. (utahasianfestival.com)

The Utah Arts Festival

June 26-29

This mammoth celebration is the peak of the summer season for many—in fact, for about 85,000 folks. Browse and buy visual art from more than 200 artists ranging from fine-art oil paintings to funky lawn ornaments. But the real draw of the UAF is its crazy mix of entertainment from national bands of the likes of Brave Combo to street theater to bungee-strung dancers who insanely shimmy on the vertical face of the Downtown Library. (Library Square, 200 E. 400 South, 801-322-2428, uaf.org)

Pioneer Day/Days of '47

July 24

"Bigger than the Fourth of July" in Utah, this state holiday celebrates the day Brigham Young and the pioneers rolled into the Salt Lake Valley. A huge downtown parade, concerts, pioneer reenactments, a rodeo and lots of fireworks mark the celebration. (daysof47.com)

Wasatch Wildflower Festival

Dates depend on season

Walk through a sea of colors at Snowbird, Brighton, Solitude and Alta mountain resorts. Festival-goers have an opportunity to learn about Utah's ecology from local naturalists and escape the heat of the valley while hiking through the Cottonwood canyons. Join local naturalists in learning about the stunning varieties of wildflowers in the Wasatch. For dates: wasatchwildflowers.org or altaarts.org

Farmers Markets

By heritage, Utahns are farmers, and during the growing season, nearly every community has its farmers market selling backyard or farm-grown produce in a festive atmosphere. Dates vary, so be sure to call first.

Great Dining SALT LAKE STYLE

Salt Lake City is gaining fame as a dining destination because of its unique definition of good eating: deep ties with local farms and growers who provide fresh food to the kitchens, passionate chefs who care more about their craft and pleasing their customers than fame and a warm western sense of casual hospitality. Fine dining is never formal—here, food is another way to have fun.

Almexo was voted
Best New Restaurant
by Salt Lake magazine
in 2014.

Vinto serves Italian favorites (below),
J Wongs offers more than just your typical Chinese fare (right).

Vinto

418 E. 200 South, 801-539-9999, vinto.com

This spiffy, no-fuss trattoria features American-style personal-size wood oven-fired pizza and great special pastas in a chic, comfortable setting. Be sure to leave room for remarkable desserts like the butterscotch budino made by gelato queen Amber Angellili.

Takashi

18 Market St., 801-519-9595, takashisushi.com

Chef-owner Takashi Gibo earned his deserved acclaim by purchasing the freshest fish and serving it in eye-popping presentations. Check the chalkboard for daily specials and expect some of the best sushi in the city because that's what you'll get.

Pallet

237 S. 400 West, 801-935-4431, eatpallet.com

Like a small piece of Seattle in Salt Lake, this cozy bistro in a repurposed dairy dock boasts high style of the most accessible kind, thanks to owner Rocky Derrick. The imaginative kitchen turns out small plates and full meals. The menu changes seasonally and Matt Pfohl's cocktails are a menu unto themselves.

Fresco

1513 S. 1500 East, 801-486-1300, frescoitaliancafe.com

The charmingly small space behind locally owned The King's English Bookstore sets a unique scene for an intimate dinner.

Owner Mikell Trapp is the visionary behind this Salt Lake gem; his personal empire also includes two Cafe Trio's, one in town and another in Cottonwood, and a new taqueria, Luna Blanco.

Forage

370 E. 900 South, 801-708-7834, foragerestaurant.com

Dining at Forage is a one-of-a-kind, cutting-edge experience. The minimalist décor provides a subtle setting for original, superlative tasting menu. Although chef Viet Pham has gone on to become a Food Network star; his founding partner Chef Bowman Brown continues to create a jaw-dropping taste adventure from Forage's kitchen.

The Copper Onion

111 E. Broadway, 801-355-3282, thecopperonion.com

Ryan Lowder, chef and owner, moved back to the Beehive State from the Big Apple to open The Copper Onion. Strategically located next to the Broadway Centre Theatre, the restaurant is a downtown mainstay, and the food, based on high-quality ingredients prepared with enthusiasm, is perfect for a casual nosh or a full celebratory dinner.

J. Wong's Asian Bistro

163 W. 200 South, 801-350-0888, jwongutah.com

Kuan Wong ran a favorite Chinese restaurant for decades in Bountiful before opening this chic downtown spot with her sons. The combo Martine serves small plates as well as full meals from a charming brownstone (left), At From Scratch, it's all homemade.

Thai/Chinese fare comes from the family's two heritages, and the kitchen turns out both cuisines with great flair.

Log Haven

6451 E. Millcreek Canyon Rd., 801-272-8255, log-haven.com

Recognized as the most romantic restaurant in SLC, Log Haven's vintage log lodge in the crisp air of scenic Millcreek Canyon offers suave service and sophisticated mountain American fare. Don't miss it.

Mazza

912 E. 900 South, 801-521-4572 and 1515 S. 1500 East, 801-484-9259, mazzacafe.com

Ali Sabbah was a pioneer in the Salt Lake food scene, introducing us to Middle Eastern fare long before falafel became a household word. The menu features kebabs, falafel and hummus, plus exotica like muhamara—a dip of walnuts, pomegranate, molasses and spices delights of vegetarianism.

Frida Bistro

545 W. 700 South, 801-983-6692, fridabistro.com

Frida's owner Jorge Fierro is a Salt Lake legend. He hit the big time with his Rico's line of high-quality Mexican foods, sold in local groceries. Frida is the first restaurant in Salt Lake City to flaunt Mexico City cuisine, and it does so in style, in a charming space filled with bright colors, vivid images of the place's namesake and a terrific menu of margaritas.

The Tin Angel Cafe

365 W. 400 South, 801-328-4155, thetinangel.com

Salt Lake's alternative restaurant, everything about the Angel is full of personality—from the ever-changing local art on the walls to the ever-changing cuisine turned out by the genially unconventional chef and co-owner Jerry Liedtke.

From Scratch

62 E. Gallivan Ave., 801-538-5090, fromscratchslc.com

And they mean it—practically everything, from the flour for the pizza dough to the ricotta—is made from scratch here. Besides the pizza, try the pasta special and the from scratch burger. With homemade mustard, natch.

Alamexo

268 S. State St., 801-779-4730

In the heart of downtown, Chef Matthew Lake, has opened a top-tier Mexican restaurant based on years of experience with this cuisine. Tableside guacamole, ever-changing salsas and carefully selected ingredients (Niman Ranch beef, etc.) make this primo Mexican food.

Naked Fish Japanese Bistro

67 W. 100 South, SLC, 801-595-8888

Owner Johnny Kwon has a near-fanatical love of authenticity and quality, inspiring some of the finest Japanese cuisine in town. Sushi is excellent and aims for sustainability, but don't miss the yakitori menu.

Silver Fork Lodge

11332 E. Big Cottonwood Canyon Rd., 999-649-9551, silverforklodge.com

A Utah original, the log cabin is authentic, the fireplace burns real logs and the sourdough starter is more than 50 years old. The setting is Utah mountains with touches of aspen and hummingbirds.

Bodega/The Rest

331 Main St., SLC, 801-532-4042

New York transplant Sara Lund has brought the speakeasy trend to Salt Lake with her cool and clever downtown basement restaurant, underneath a beer bodega. Make a reservation to get your key, and enjoy one of the hottest spots for drinks and dinner in town.

Valter's Osteria

173 W. Broadway, SLC, 801-521-4563

Hand-waving, air kissing Valter Nassi has been Salt Lake's most famous host for years. Now in his own restaurant featuring the food of his native Tuscany, he is king. Tableside preparations, Old World service and general conviviality make this a local fave.

Martine Cafe

22 E. 100 South, 801-363-9328, martinecafe.com

It's like a New York brownstone tucked into a Salt Lake City block. Lunch is good, but dinner is when the kitchen really shines, with inventive small plates showcasing vivid global flavors. Don't miss the grilled gingerbread.

R and R BBQ

307 W. 600 South, SLC, 801-364-0443

Twin brothers Roger and Rod (R and R) Livingston were champs on the competitive BBQ circuit for years. Lucky for SLC, they've opened a brick-and-mortar location featuring their Texas-style brisket, superlative ribs and pulled pork. Eat in or get it to go.

ADAM FINKLE

Best Burger

WE'VE GOT FIVE FOR YOU

Utah is a burger-loving state, and though there are many new and notable restaurants serving cutting-edge cuisine in the city, you shouldn't leave town without a taste of our burger culture.

Styles range from local chains, like Hires Big H, Crown Burgers and IceBerg, to the gourmet. Pretty much every restaurant has its own, special burger. These are five of the best.

The Burger Bar

Lucky 13 won first place for burgers in the World Food Championships in Las Vegas last year with its specially concocted Spicy Candied Cajun Burger. You can choose from the regular menu of 11 burgers, ranging from the foot-tall "Big Benny" (right) with its 28 ounces of ground chuck to the "Ring of Fire," topped with jalapeños and habaneros to the Fungus Amongus, featuring mushrooms sautéed in red wine. With so many choices, you're bound to find one you like—finishing it is another matter. Of course, you'll eat it with a local brew or High West Whiskey. 135 W. 1300 South, SLC, 801-487-4418, lucky13slc.com

The Artisan Burger

Scott Evans' little café, Pago, has been at the forefront of Salt Lake's local and artisanal food movement. That doesn't mean the menu is full of esoterica. In fact, its burger is one of the restaurant's most famous dishes. This intensely planned sandwich holds a patty of fresh Niman Ranch beef topped with Gruyere, caramelized onions, black garlic aioli, local bacon and house-pickled red onion. Wine expert Evans will be happy to find the perfect pairing from his list or by the glass from his Cruvinet.

878 S. 900 East, SLC, 801-532-0777, pagoslc.com

Utah's Own Pastrami Burger

The state's signature burger—a beef patty topped with an inch of thin-sliced pastrami—has obscure origins, but it's available at many of the local burger chains, including Crown Burgers (crown-burgers.com) and Hires Big H (hiresbigh.com).

The Family Burger

Three beef cuts—sirloin, chuck and brisket—are ground together and patted into several size burgers, depending on your appetite, from 1/3 pound to the “tiny” Tony for tots.

Tonyburgers is also the place for a full-on American burger meal: Milkshakes here are made to order with real scoops of ice cream and the award-winning french fries are hand-cut and twice fried. 613 E. 400 South, SLC, 801-419-0531, tonyburgers.com

The Gourmet Burger

Parisiennes are eating as many burgers than baguette sandwiches. And here in Salt Lake one of our best burgers comes from a French restaurant. The burger at The Paris Bistro is perfect: toasted bun, 8 oz. of Utah grass-fed open range sirloin cooked medium rare, topped with Gruyere, fresh lettuce nad tomato and comes with genuine pommes frites. Ooh lala. 1500 S 15th E St, SLC, 801-486-5585, theparis.net

The Garlic Burger

Garlic burgers are a Salt Lake favorite, and motorcycle-themed diner Guzzi's Vintage Burgers makes them the old-fashioned way, right before your eyes with lots of fresh, chopped garlic right on the griddle. That means this is not fast food, but these burgers are worth the brief wait. Not everything is old-school—try the Kevin Bacon Burger with blue cheese and fries with wasabi sauce. Of course, you can have that Utah standard, fry sauce, too. 200 E. 800 South, SLC, 801-364-4541

Beer ELEVATED

Since Greg Schirf founded Utah's first microbrewery in 1986, Beehive brewers have gotten serious about their art. Just about every brewery in Utah has a wall covered with awards. And brew's rising popularity means that beer lists get the same kind of attention as wine lists. Here's where to find Salt Lake's finest.

Greg Schirf, founder of Wasatch Beers enjoys a cold one.

Squatters Pub Brewery

147 W. Broadway, SLC, 801-363-2739,
squatters.com

Greg Schirf's Wasatch Beers and Brewpub merged with Jeff Polychronis and Peter Cole's Squatters Pubs and Beers in 2000, forming Utah Brewers Cooperative, which wins awards for its brews every year. Not only that, but Squatters Pub is one of the most popular watering holes in Salt Lake. The broad menu and friendly atmosphere tell you why.

Desert Edge Brewery at the Pub

273 Trolley Square, SLC, 801-521-8917, desertedgebrewery.com

"I brew at least one brand-new beer a year," says brewmaster Chris Haas, who says variety sets Desert Edge apart. Haas conducts Beer School at the pub on the first Thursday evening of the month and encourages students to open their minds as well as their mouths. "People just don't realize how many different beer flavors there are."

Kevin Crompton of Epic Brewery testing a brew.

RESTAURANTS & BARS

beer snobs and the rest of us who are aspiring beer snobs. And the Cajun-themed food is very good.

Epic Brewing Company

825 S. State St., SLC, 801-906-0123,
epicbrewing.com

The opening of Epic in 2008 was, well, pretty epic. It's the first Utah brewery since prohibition to brew exclusively high-alcohol content beer. But its basic mission, according to co-owner David Cole, is pretty simple. "We want to make good beer that people want to drink" You can buy cold beer to-go at Epic's recently expanded brewery or order food and beer at their new Annex in Sugar House.

Avenues Proper And Publick House

376 8th Ave., SLC, 385-227-8626,
avenuesproper.com

A neighborhood restaurant and bar in one of SLC's most charming areas. Besides house-brewed beers, the Proper has a great selection of Utah beers on draft and in bottles to complement the artisanal menu.

Red Rock Brewery

254 S. 200 West, SLC, 801-521-7446, redrockbrewing.com

Brewmaster Kevin Templin is an admitted perfectionist. "Every beer has to be world-class," he says. For a German pilsner, he doesn't just brew in the German style, he uses German malt, German hops and German yeast. He works with 45 established recipes; the pub offers a selection of about 10 beers at a time.

Uinta Brewing Company

1722 Fremont Dr., SLC, 801-467-0909, uintabrewing.com

"What sets us apart from most other local brewers is simple," says Uinta Brewing Company founder Will Hamill. "We make beer. Period." No restaurant. Uinta built a 26,000-square-foot brewing facility to accommodate new lines like certified organic beers called Four+ and Crooked Line, a beer in a corked bottle with labels designed by local artists. Find Uinta's brew at supermarkets, convenience stores and state liquor outlets.

ranging from hipster kids to Happy Hour suits. An impressive selection of craft beers is served at the unique ice bar, literally a strip of ice that runs the length of the bar to keep your brew at the right temperature.

The Bayou

645 S. State St., SLC, 801-961-8400
utahbayou.com

The Bayou specializes in rare, hard-to-find beers, keeping the place busy most evenings and weekends. Go around the world in 80 beers with the extensive list of imports and domestics. The Bayou is a place for

The Beehive attracts a crowd

A GUIDE TO SLC'S Bar Scene

Believe it: Salt Lake City has a happening bar scene with all the innovations—creative mixologists, craft beers, wine on tap and artisanal bar menus. Cheers!

Bar-X

155 E. 200 South, SLC,
801-355-2287, barsaltlake.com

This drinker's bar is devoted to cocktails and the shakers prefer the term “bartenders.” A classic survivor through the ups and downs of Utah liquor laws, this venerable beer bar was updated to become the leader of Salt Lake's new cocktail movement, serving classic drinks and creative inventions behind the best electric sign in the city.

BTG Wine Bar

63 W. 100 South, SLC, 801-359-2814,
btgwinebar.com

BTG stands for “By the Glass” and the tenacity with which Fred Moessinger (owner of next-door Caffè Molise) pursued the idea of a true wine bar deserves kudos. There are craft cocktails and specialty beer, and you can order food from Caffè Molise, but the pieces des resistance are the more than 50 wines by the glass. You can order a tasting portion or a full glass, allowing you to sample vintages you might not be inclined to buy by the bottle.

ADAM FINKLE

Taqueria 27

1615 S. Foothill Dr., SLC, 385-259-0712, taqueria27.com

Restaurant owner and tequila aficionado Todd Gardiner mixes it up Mexican-style.

The first thing you notice when you enter Taqueria 27 are the rows of tequila bottles painted, chalkboard-style, on the wall, larger than life. Clearly, this is a tequila-centric restaurant. You'll find beer and wine on the substantial beverage list, but no other spirits. "We had a customer get really angry because we 'wouldn't' make him a whiskey sour," he recalls. "We couldn't make a whiskey sour—we don't have any whiskey here." What Taqueria 27 does have is 40 different tequilas to taste: 10 anejos (aged in oak at least a year and a day), 16 reposadas (aged at least 2 months) and 14 silvers (aged no more than 30 days). That's not counting the ultra premium selections.

Gracie's Bar

326 S. West Temple, SLC, 801-819-7565, graciesslc.com

Gracie's calls itself a "gastropub," meaning that besides live music, mixed drinks, beer and a better-than-most-bars wine list, it offers an interesting and imaginative food menu. Eat on the upstairs patio—one of the best views of downtown against the Wasatch.

Market Street Oyster Bar

54 W. Market St., SLC, 801-531-6044, marketstreetgrill.com

The livelier, night-life side of Market Street seafood restaurant, the Oyster Bar has an extensive beverage menu including seasonal drink specials. To begin or end an evening, have one of the award-winning martinis or a classic, up daiquiri with a dozen oysters—half price on Mondays—or settle in for the night and order from the full seafood menu.

Whiskey Street

323 S. Main St., SLC, 801-433-1371, whiskeystreet.com

Before it was named Main Street, this stretch of road was dubbed “Whiskey Street” because it was lined with so many pubs and bars. Hence the name. Anchored by a 42-foot long cherry wood bar backed with bottles and centered with a narrow stand-up table, Whiskey Street serves food but this is primarily a place to bend the elbow. If you are a fan of the neo-cocktail movement, try a “Ward Eight” from the specialty list—Bulleit Rye, orange and lemon juice, grenadine and a cherry—but there’s a classic list, including a Sazerac, a Negroni, a Moscow Mule, for purists, a list of beer and whiskey pairings and a jaw-dropping (and therefore mouth-opening) list of spirits, some rare for SLC. Wine on tap and an extensive beer list round out the imbibers’ choices. You definitely can’t try it all on one visit.

Pallet

237 S. 400 West, SLC, 801-935-4431, eatpallet.com

Bartender Matt Pfohl’s cocktail menu at this hip bistro features “classics with a twist.” Many modern drinkers aren’t familiar with the classic cocktails and Pfohl serves those, too. He likes to explain his cocktails, educating his drinkers as he serves them and elevating the cocktail experience to a food experience.

Finca

1291 S. 1100 East, SLC, 801-487-0699, fincasl.com

The beverage director for Finca, Scott

Gardner, creates seasonal drink lists to suit the Spanish-influenced menu. One of the foremost mixers in the city, Gardner relies heavily on garden-grown ingredients to update his creations, many of which are based on obscure historically based cocktails from the 1920s and earlier—think milk punches, flips and negroni. He takes artisanal to the max, by concocting his own tonic water and his own grenadine and searching out unusual bitters and liqueurs. One thing that sets Finca’s drinks apart is Gardner’s liberal use of Spain’s great sherry wine.

Kristauf's Martini Bar

16 W. Market St., SLG, 801-366-9490, martinibarslc.com

A gin martini is the quintessential cocktail. In fact, to say “gin martini” is a redundancy—that’s the purist point of view. The rest of us savor all kinds of concoctions in a martini glass—just ask Cody Frantz, who changes his cocktail menu annually. He has started mixing drinks with less sugar and more fresh flavors lately. Frantz teaches bar tending for the Lifelong Learning Program at the University of Utah.

The Vault

Hotel Monaco, 15 W. 200 South, SLG,

801-990-9706, monaco-saltlakecity.com

Salt Lake’s best hotel bar is an urban sanctuary. Stylish and sophisticated but lots of fun, this small hotel bar is a balance of elegance and coziness. Besides manning the daily wine hour in the lobby and serving the classics, the Vault’s team invents a roster of Oscar cocktails every year, one to match each movie nominee. Your cocktail order is your vote.

Bar Stars: Beer Bar

Beer-X’s next door neighbor is a serious beer-food emporium. The brainchild of TV star Ty Burrell with a menu by James Beard-nominated chef Viet Pham, Beer Bar takes beer and food to a new level with the option to drink your choice of more than 140 brews or enjoy a reuben with locally made brats. 161 E. 200 South, Salt Lake City, 801-355-2287

Go on a DOWNTOWN PUB CRAWL

Check out these watering holes from the top to the bottom of Salt Lake's Main Street

Copper Common

111 E. Broadway, 801-355-0543

A food-forward approach to drinking.

What you're drinking: A Fourth Regiment: High West Double Rye, Carpano Antica Vermouth and three biters—Peychaud's, celery and orange)

What's so special: The civilized setting and the sophisticated menu—braised fennel, lobster spaghetti, Turkish-tinged meatballs, smoked portobellos.

Who's there: Well-traveled folks with experienced palates and a taste for adventure. Or not.

The Red Door

57 W. 200 South, 801-363-6030, behindthreddoor.com

So you say you want a revolution?

What you're drinking: One-ounce Sapphire martini, dirty, with another glass of gin on the side

What's so special: The giant Che Guevara mural, red walls and candlelit dimness

Who's there: Communists and conventioners.

The Red Door is probably Salt Lake's most intimate drinking establishment: a cozy hideaway that feels like somewhere else—sophisticated and elegant, perfect for a sneering discussion of laissez-faire economics, or just les affaires.

O'Shucks Bar & Grill

22 E. 100 South, 801-596-8600

Gritty dive bar or sushi bar? You decide.

What you're drinking: Schooner of brew

What's so special: The crazy-cheap deals on giant beers and rolls from the in-house Ahh Sushi restaurant every Wednesday.

Who's there: Any and all types: suits, college kids, hipsters—everyone who feels comfortable throwing peanut shells on the floor, then ordering sashimi. And a few pool players.

Keys on Main

242 S. Main St., 801-363-3638, keysonmain.com

Sing-along and drink-along with the piano man.

What you're drinking: Anything shaken, stirred or on tap

What's so special: Salt Lake has plenty of live music stops, but Keys on Main's dueling pianos are all about interactive entertainment.

Who's there: From bachelorette parties to birthdays, there is always a celebration taking place at Keys. Celebrate with the best dressed and most beautiful folks in the city. Come for the dueling pianos, stay for the people watching.

Murphy's

160 S. Main St., 801-359-7271, murphysbarandgrillut.com

This so-called "step down in social clubs" is a consistent good time.

What you're drinking: Murphy's Irish stout, Jameson's chaser

What's so special: There are no games, no live music, no karaoke, but Murphy's clientele provides all the entertainment you need.

Who's there: Downtown bar-hoppers of all stripes, hardcore boozers, hipsters and happy hour business types. Murphy's has gussied up its appearance in recent years, but it's still a bare-bones drinking establishment, and that's why we like it. Forget the bells and whistles—just give us attentive service and more-fair-than-most prices and we'll gladly belly up any day of the week.

The Beerhive Pub

128 S. Main St., 801-364-4268

This Main Street hotspot is all the buzz.

What you're drinking: Epic's Spiral Jetty or any number of craft microbrews from the extensive list

What's so special: The ice bar, literally a strip of ice that runs the length of the bar to keep your brew at the right temperature

Who's there: Downtowners and conventioners who like it Old World style. One of the newer hotspots in downtown SLC, The Beerhive attracts a crowd ranging from hipster kids to Happy Hour suits.

Cheers to You

315 S. Main St., 801-575-6400, cheerstoyouslc.com

Grab a stool at a bar that's old-school.

What you're drinking: Most likely cheap, yellow beer

What's so special: Red pleather, dim lighting and cheesy decorations make you feel instantly at home.

Who's there: Everyone who knows everyone else—lotsa locals with legitimate IDs—and, on Friday, karaoke fans. Cheers to You isn't exactly fancy, and it's no place you'd take a date, but if you want a homey, friendly spot to simply quaff a brew, it's for you.

Shop SALT LAKE

Salt Lake's cultural blend guarantees shopping opportunities for students, hipsters, families, athletes and teens. Clothes, antiques, books, outdoor gear, locally-made cheese, chocolate and whiskey are highlights of shopping Salt Lake. You just have to know where to look.

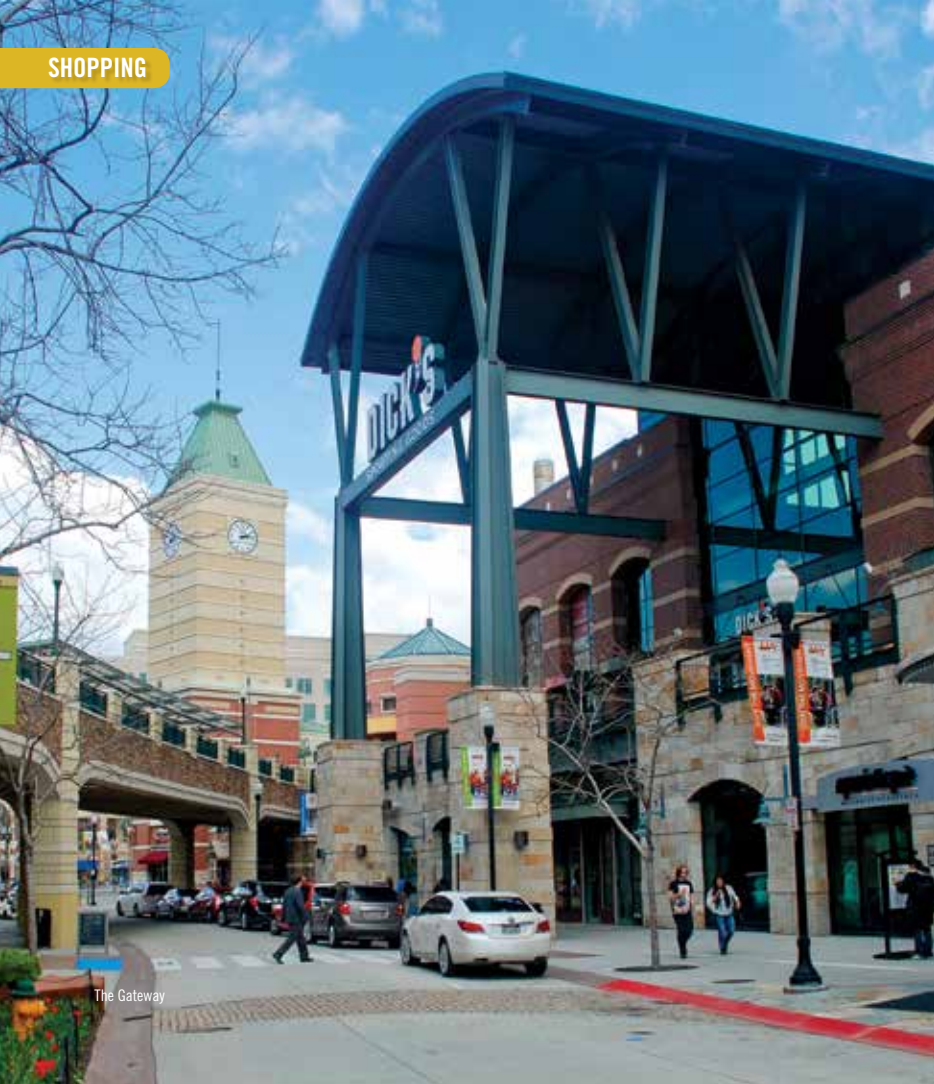

City Creek Center

THE NEW TOP OF MAIN STREET

50 S. Main St., 801-521-1012, shopcitycreekcenter.com

When it opened in Spring 2012, it was heralded as nothing short of the renaissance of Salt Lake's downtown. One thing is for sure, with more than 100 stores like Macy's, Michael Kors, Nordstrom, Pandora, Brooks Brothers and Tiffany & Co., it is a shopper's paradise. Steps away on State Street is Utah's premier jeweler O.C. Tanner, and just below the skywalk on Main Street, is revived Utah favorite the Chalk Garden Co-op. For the kids, hit the Disney Store and Go! Games and Toys. The City Creek area also boasts excellent restaurants, including the Cheesecake Factory, Texas de Brazil, Brio Tuscan Grille and local favorites Blue Lemon, Martine, Naked Fish and Caffè Molise. City Creek also brings a first-class grocery store, Harmans, offering everything from the basics to gourmet takeout and some of the city's best fresh-baked breads.

The Gateway

SCOTT CULLINS

The Gateway

MORE THAN A MALL

18 N. Rio Grande St., shopthegateway.com

Welcome to a mall that feels like small-town Main Street. Think wide walkways, friendly storefronts and sidewalk cafés. The Gateway offers the best of national stores like Abercrombie & Fitch, Sur La Table and Urban Outfitters, along with Utah-based stores like Lolabella and Bastille. But The Gateway also serves as a public plaza. Families gather around the dancing fountain, a stone version of the 2002 Winter Olympics snowflake logo that shoots water jets synchronized to the Olympic theme music every half-hour. Next to the fountain is the Olympic Wall of Honor paying tribute to thousands of volunteers from the 2002 Olympics. Clark Planetarium features 10,000 square feet of stunning imagery in the ATK 3D IMAX Theatre or Hansen Dome Theatre, and the Discovery Gateway children's museum offers a wonderland of interactive educational exhibits for the whole family to enjoy. The beautiful and historic Union Pacific Depot, built in 1908, serves as the gateway to The Gateway, welcoming visitors to the city.

15th & 15th

STYLE AND SUBSTANCE

1500 East and 1500 South, onlyinsaltlake.com

This idyllic, tree-filled neighborhood may be smaller than its 9th and 9th counterpart, but what it lacks in size it makes up for in substance, playing home to an iconic bookstore, plus some of Salt Lake's hottest restaurants, including the chic Paris Bistro, the cozy Fresco Italian Cafe and the first—though smaller—outpost of Mazza. And you know how they say you should never go to the grocery store hungry? It might be a good idea to sate your appetite before entering Caputo's on 15th. The gourmet food store carries a dazzling array of imported and local cheeses, meats, chocolates and more. Dog lovers will find great gifts and practical gear and grooming next door at The Dog Show. If you're more of a bookworm than a fashionista, head across the street to The King's English Bookshop. The selection of works by local authors rub covers with national best-sellers and a great collection of children's books. And don't miss 15th Street Gallery, where you'll find original artwork, framing and upscale home accessories.

9th & 9th

PURE ECLECTICITY

900 East and 900 South, 9thand9th.com

An eclectic community of shops and restaurants in the midst of a quaint residential area, 9th and 9th is hip and urban. The area appeals to 20-somethings and 60-somethings alike, thanks to a variety of unique shops, services and restaurants. An ideal walking district, the 9th and 9th neighborhood is the perfect place to while away an afternoon. Local fashionistas flock to Apt. 202 and Koo De Ker for stylish duds and chic accessories, including handmade jewelry by Salt Lake local Katie Waltman. You'll find all the literary classics for wee ones at The Children's Hour, along with shelves of dolls and stuffed animals, shoes and hip clothes for babies, children and women. Load up on funny, absurd and downright risqué cards and gifts at Cahoots. A great cup of coffee awaits next door at Coffee Garden. At Hip & Humble, stock up on cute clothing and tons of accessories Zuri'ick makes and sells the hippest shoes for men and women. Enjoy the eye-candy of fine jewelry, and swanky gifts at Charlotte's or pick up a stylish and high-end handbag from the charming Purse Dreams.

OLD MEETS NEW AT SALT LAKE'S COOLEST MALL

Between 500 and 600 South at 700 East, trolleyssquare.com
Salt Lake's old trolley barns were remodeled as a shopping mall years ago, and a major revamp brought in Whole Foods market and Weller Book Works, Salt Lake's iconic book store since 1929. While you'll find high-end mall mainstays like Pottery Barn and Williams-Sonoma, you'll also discover unique local boutiques like stationery store Tabula Rasa and the high-fashion eyewear outlet The Spectacle, as well as its sibling Steampunk Spectacles. Trolley also houses quirky gift shop Cabin Fever (a great spot for self-mocking Salt Lake gifts like Temple Square shot glasses) and brew pub Desert Edge at the Pub. If more holistic relaxation is your thing, check out Prana Yoga for classes and unique gear.

Tabula Rasa at

East Broadway

THE HIPPEST STRIP

300 South (Broadway) between 200 and 400 East

With street parking and high density of stores, East Broadway offers hip, locally owned shops. At Jitterbug Antiques, Toys & Collectibles you can unearth a classic Lincoln Logs set, a multitude of model cars and Pez dispensers. Mid-century modern furniture fills The Green Ant. Retro Rose offers reasonably priced retro-cool clothes, furniture and curios. UTah Artists Hands offers a spectrum of works from Utah's best artists. Fice straddles the line between gallery and boutique, hosting art shows monthly. Red Queen has a fascinating collection of fine book art. Now & Again offers a curated selection of second-hand furniture and Antoinette's specializes in antique jewelry. Fuel yourself at Este Pizzeria (try the Pink Pie). If happy hour is needed after a full day of shopping, you can hit both of Salt Lake's hippest bars, Bar X and Copper Common or dueling piano bar The Tavernacle.

Sugar House

SHOPPING AT ITS SWEETEST

1100 East and 2100 South, onlyinsaltlake.com

One of the oldest neighborhoods in the city, this quirky area (named for the sugar beet) has been a favorite shopping area for generations. It's the small shops that give Sugar House character—spots like Sugar House Coffee Co. with its dependably listenable live music. Home Again features a shifting selection of consignment décor. Traces Organic Garden is a unique combination of gift store, florist and gardening center. And if a meal is on the agenda, stop in Epic's Annex for beer-paired food and a pint or drop by classic mainstay The Soup Kitchen for the clam chowder. If you need a big-box fix, Old Navy, Bed, Bath & Beyond, Michael's and Nordstrom Rack are there, too.

Fice in the East Broadway district

Foothill Village

SLC SHOPPING CENTRAL

1300 South Foothill Dr.

Shop it end to end: MacCool's Public House is right next to Bella Forté boutique; farther down the sidewalk, find toys that teach from Tutoring Toy, and pick up some booties at Babinski's Baby. Along the way, gift ideas abound at Three French Hens and Bloomingsales, which sells fresh flowers along with unusual trinkets. New Orientation features fine tabletops from the best European and American manufacturers, and Color Me Mine lets you design your own pottery and ceramics.

Gardner Village

Gardner Village

SHOPPING FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

1100 W. 7800 South, West Jordan, 801-566-8903,
gardnervillage.com

Restored cabins, vintage houses and buildings and duck ponds nestled around historic Gardner Mill make for a charming shopping center. The old flour mill, on the National Historic Register, is home to Archibald's Restaurant and Country Furniture & Gifts. Georgell Doll Shop sells collectibles, including Marie Osmond Dolls, while Highlite Photography's family portraits will leave you breathless. Kids will love Storybook Nook's games and books. Sweet Affairs has all the old-fashioned treats you can think of, from caramel apples to Dutch licorice.

Fashion Place

A MALL TO LOVE

6191 South State St., Murray, 801-262-9447, fashionplace.com

Along with Dillard's, the storied Macy's also anchors the mall with Nordstrom, the only place in Salt Lake to buy your Jimmy Choo's. But there's still room for small yet high-style boutiques like Miche and big-name shops like H&M and Crate & Barrel, Sephora and J. Crew, eateries like Cheesecake Factory and Brio Tuscan Grille, and both V Chocolates and Godiva.

Chalk Garden Co-op

Uniquely Salt Lake

TOP SHOPS

Visitors to SLC will find shops that are unique to Utah and defined by their owners' personality.

Chalk Garden Co-op

The Chalk Garden is a chic shop tucked into an architecturally significant downtown building. The co-op—which also features a boutique outpost of Lunatic Fringe and Park City vintage staple, the Lanny Barnard Gallery—delivers with an impressively stocked shoe department, gorgeous artisan jewelry and contemporary fashion for women and men alike. 74 S. Main St., 801-364-4032, chalkgardenco-op.com

UTah Artist Hands

Take home a work of art created in Utah. Artists Hands owner Pam O'Mara showcases the work of local artists in oil paintings and watercolors, as well as mixed media sculpture, photography, leather and papier mâché works, ceramics, unique jewelry at reasonable prices and fiber arts. 163 E. Broadway (300 South), 801-355-0206, utahhands.com

Signed & Numbered

Local artist Leia Bell started out designing striking prints and posters for rock bands, and is now a well-known graphic artist. Signed & Numbered features her work as well as the work of other, mostly local, artists. This unique print and poster gallery also offers custom framing made in-house by hand, using water-based finishes on "cutoffs" from lumber stores or reclaimed wood. 2100 S. 2100 East, 801-596-2093, signed-numbered.com

The King's English

Over 35 years, bibliophiles Betsy Burton, Ann Berman and Barbara Hoagland created a space where books are discussed and cherished and authors honored. In a digital age, King's English offers room after rambling room of print on paper—not just bestsellers but also autographed books, books by local authors and a complete children's section. This is an old-fashioned bookstore that encourages browsing.

1511 S. 1500 East, 801-484-9100, kingsenglish.com

Sundance Catalog Outlet Store

Sundance is synonymous with Utah, thanks to the Kid himself, Robert Redford. Subtly western-style clothes, furnishings and artisanal jewelry that have made the Sundance Catalog a fashion icon are available here in a retail setting, at considerably lower prices. 2201 Highland Dr., 801-487-3400, sundancecatalog.com

The Heavy Metal Shop

A throw-back record shop-cum-museum where owner Kevin Kirk ("Peddlin' evil since 1987") pays homage to the likes of Megadeth, Metallica and Slayer. This is the premier stop for everything "heavy" and "hard." DVDs, CDs, shirts, mugs, patches, necklaces, pinbacks and concert listings fill the store. 63 Exchange Place, 801-467-7071, heavymetalshop.com

Ken Sanders Rare Books

The real treasure here is Ken himself, a walking—and talking—compendium of knowledge, trivia, myth and history about books in general and his native state in particular. You may have seen Utah's bearded sage sharing his

87 VisitSaltLake.com

expertise on PBS's Antiques Roadshow. His store contains a mesmerizing collection of historic maps and prints, stacks of classic and rare books and vintage postcards. 268 S. 200 East, 801-521-3819, kensanders.com

O.C. Tanner

The architectural gem that houses Obert Clark Tanner's flagship store was originally the city library, built in 1905. The company renovated the building, putting $24 million into a home for the presentation of sparkling jewels (think Roberto Coin and Penny Preville) and fine watches. 15 S. State St., 888-246-6217, octanner.com

O.C. Tanner

Apartment 202

Ashley Rothwell-Campagna is passionate about styling her customers and stocks her store with everything that's on trend. Women intimidated by style, in particular, will find support and a selection of clothes that Rothwell-Campagna describes as "classic, wearable with an edge." 955 E. 900 South, 801-355-0228, apt202boutique.com

Utah Woolen Mills

Founded in 1905, this family owned business once made men's and women's clothing, military uniforms, letterman jackets and even blankets. Now it is a unique source for locally designed fine, custom-tailored clothes for men and women. 59 W. South Temple, 801-364-1851, utahwoolenmills.com

Steampunk
Spectacle

The Spectacle and Steampunk Spectacle

This shop sells spectacles. That's right, eyeglass frames. But John Cottam has a collection of new and old eyewear like you've never seen. He's even sold glasses to the spectacle king, Elton John, and created eyewear for the film Bladerunner. He recently designed a pair of glasses for John Oates, of Hall & Oates. He also creates steampunk lamps, rayguns and other objects from found materials in his gallery, Steampunk Spectacle, downstairs from his eyeglass shop in Trolley Square. 456 Trolley Square, 801-359-2020, thespectacle.com

C.G. Sparks

You can spend hours in this global treasure trove, a curated collection of imported and handmade furniture and housewares arranged beguilingly in a big warehouse. Find overdyed Persian rugs, carved Indonesian gods, Indian textiles, tables made of reclaimed wood and metal, antique and new combined with a 21st century sensibility. They call it "furniture with soul." 454 S. 500 West, 801-519-6900, cgsparks.com

Zuri'ick

The hippest collection of shoes in town, carefully crafted and globally stylish, for men and women. Everything from canvas slip-ons to handstitched boots are here—in styles that are more Portland than SLC. But perhaps the most surprising thing about this footwear is the very reasonable prices. 875 E. 900 South, 801-400-2557, zurickmyshopify.com

Himalayan Arts

A whiff of exotica in Trolley Square, this fragrant shop sells house-designed hand-made Tibetan and Nepalese clothing and jewelry made from bone and silver as well as handmade bags, pouches and other accessories, collectibles and oddities. 602 E. 500 South, 801-815-5922

Ward & Child—The Garden Store

Behind those ivy-covered walls lies a wonderland of garden accessories, furniture and household objets d'art—baskets, birdbaths, planters and fountains. Come browse, indoors and out; besides the showroom, the gardens in back are filled with treasures. 678 S. 700 East, 801-595-6622, gardenstoresaltlake.com

Zion National Park

Zion National Park (5-HOUR DRIVE)

From the top of the towering West Temple plateau to the banks of the Virgin River, the red and white sandstone cliffs of Zion National Park (nps.gov/zion, 435-772-3256) provide sanctuary to life found there. Whether gazing up or looking down, the quiet grandeur of Zion is rejuvenating. Visitors can traverse the high country like desert bighorn sheep, ascend cliffs like peregrine falcons or browse the valley floor like mule deer. A shuttle bus provides access to the main canyon in the summer, while Kolob Canyon to the west and Zion's east side remain open to traffic year round. Rough it in Watchman or South campground (reserveamerica.com, 877-444-6777) or stay at historic Zion Lodge (zionlodge.com, 435-772-7700).

Bryce Canyon National Park (5-HOUR DRIVE)

The distinct world of Bryce Canyon National Park (nps.gov/brca, 435-834-5322) is featured in the unique hoodoos and natural rock amphitheaters. Various vantage points are accessible by car, shuttle bus or foot, ensuring views of the stunning sunrises and sunsets. The glowing red color masks the winter temperatures that allowed ice to sculpt the rock into the unworldly shapes. Mountain mixes with desert, keeping nights crisp at this high-elevation park. Brave the chill, and you'll be rewarded with one of the starriest night skies in the world. Stay warm by a campsite fire (reserveamerica.com, 877-444-6777) or at the cozy Ruby's Inn (26 S. Main, Bryce Canyon City, UT 84764, rubysinn.com, 866-866-6616).

Bryce Canyon

Yellowstone National Park

Arches National Park

(4-HOUR DRIVE)

Arches National Park (nps.gov/arch, 435-719-2299)

is a visual delight that boasts the greatest density of natural arches in the world. Sweeping vista views of delicate arches, fins and spires team up with the fragile soil to give the park its unique appearance. The elegance of Arches can be explored at Devils Garden, Balanced Rock and Utah's iconic Delicate Arch.

Arrange tours for the Fiery Furnace at the visitor center. Experience this secluded desert in Devils Garden campground (reserveamerica.com, 877-444-6777) or stay just minutes away in Moab (discovermoab.com, 800-635-6622).

natural puzzles of canyons, cliffs and mesas divided by the rushing Colorado and Green Rivers. The mosaic of color, form and curve brings vivacity to the maze-like landscapes, while petroglyphs show vital signs from past human civilizations. The Island in the Sky district provides a bird's eye-view of the canyon labyrinth, while the Needles district takes you into its depths. Snag a first-come, first-serve campsite in either district or return to civilization in Moab (discovermoab.com, 800-635-6622) or Monticello (monticelloutah.org, 435-459-9700).

Capitol Reef National Park

(4-HOUR DRIVE)

Texture defines Capitol Reef National Park

(nps.gov/care, 435-425-3791) with domes and gorges hidden in the wrinkled bulges of the Waterpocket Fold. The natural beauties and historic pioneer settlements within its borders are still maintained much as they have been for the last 100 years. It's easy to lose track of time in this timeless place. Linger under the shady mature trees of Fruita campground or mosey 11 miles west to modern lodging available in Torrey (torreyutah.com).

Grand Canyon National Park (8-HOUR DRIVE)

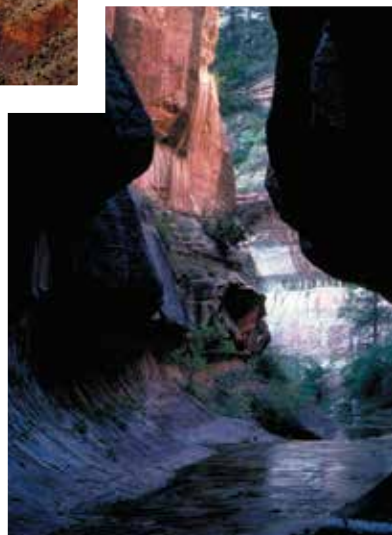

The unimaginable power of geologic forces on display at Grand Canyon National Park (nps.gov/grca, 928-638-7888) will inspire deep reflection fitting for one of the world's natural wonders. Admire the awe-inspiring views from the North and South Rims or test your mettle and endurance by zigzagging down to Phantom Ranch (grandcanyonlodges.com) and watch the waters of the Colorado River flow 5,000 vertical feet below the canyon rim. A land of extremes, the summer heat and winter cold of the canyon require adequate preparation and respect. Rest your shaky legs in the multiple lodges and campgrounds around the North Rim (grandcanyonlodgenorth.com, 877-386-4383) or the South Rim (grandcanyonlodges.com, 888.297.2757).

Yellowstone National Park (6-HOUR DRIVE)

America's iconic National Park, Yellowstone National Park (nps.gov/yell, 307-344-7381) exhibits the best of America's Rocky Mountain West.

Heading north from Utah, desert canyons transform into lush river valleys where bison and grizzly bears still roam. The dazzling power of water is on full display from the roaring of Yellowstone Falls to the bubbling clusters of hot springs and spurting geysers. The best options to stay and play are found inside the park (yellowstonenationalparklodges.com, 866-439-7375). The same ticket provides entry to the jagged peaks of Grand Teton National Park (nps.gov/grte) south of Yellowstone, and is well worth the detour.

Central Utah

BOULDER, CAPITOL REEF NATIONAL PARK, GRAND STAIRCASE-ESCALANTE

Breathtaking sheer rock cliffs, plunging waterfalls, other-worldly rock formations and stone the color of sunset characterize the landscape in this remote section of Utah.

South-central Utah is by many measures one of the state's richest and most appealing destination areas. The main attraction, Capitol Reef National Park (nps.gov/care), is dominated by the Waterpocket Fold, a hundred-mile bulge in the earth filled with gorges and domes ripe for exploration. Capitol Reef is higher than Zion or Arches, making it 10 to 15 degrees cooler in the summer. You can also pick fruit in season at the orchards in Fruita, a historic pioneer settlement just inside the park, where the National Park Service maintains fruit trees in much the same way as 100 years ago.

Eleven miles west of Capitol Reef is Torrey, a cottonwood-lined little town big on personality. Check the local social and cultural pulse with a visit to The Robber's Roost Bookstore (185 W.

Main St., 435-425-3265, robbersroostbooks.com). The store itself is a nice, quiet spot to sip an espresso while browsing the thoughtful selection of Western literature.

Robber's Roost is also home to the Colorado Plateau-protecting Entrada Institute (entradainstitute.org) and a local farmer's market, held Saturday at 4 p.m., from May through October. Have tapas or dinner on the patio nearby at the seasonal Café Diablo (599 W. Main St., 435-425-3070, cafediabolo.net), open from April-October serving classics with a southwest twist like rattlesnake cakes and pumpkin seed trout. Stay nearby at the Pine Shadows Cabins (195 W. 125 South, Teasdale, 435-425-3939, pineshadowcabins.net) or Muley Twist Inn (249 W. 125 South, Bicknell, 435-425-3640, muleytwistinn.com).

The U.S.'s newest national monument, the 1.7 million acre Grand Staircase-Escalante, covers most of central Utah. One of the most remote regions in the lower 48 states, this was the last area of the continental United States to be mapped. The Grand Staircase's terraced mountains are best appreciated by hiking the Hole-in-the-Rock canyon or Burr Trail. All but the smallest children get a kick out of Lower Calf Creek Falls, an easy six-mile hike leading past beaver ponds to a 126-foot waterfall.

Hell's Backbone Grill

Taste of Heaven

Foodies flock to Hell's Backbone Grill (No. 20 North Highway 12, Boulder, 435-335-7464 hellsbackbonegrill.com), just up the road from Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument. Regional cuisine is gathered from the restaurant's organic farm. The restaurateurs—Jen Castle and Blake Spalding—keep bees for honey and tend more than 50 hens for eggs. Try the cream of jalapeño soup, chocolate-chili cream pots, heavenly lemon chiffon cake and the organic wine list.

Southeast Utah

MOAB, ARCHES AND CANYONLANDS NATIONAL PARKS AND DEAD HORSE POINT STATE PARK

Wind and water are responsible for the canyons, spires, arroyos and natural amphitheaters found throughout this harshly beautiful landscape, but stunning scenery is just the beginning. Friendly diners, independent bookstores, fine cuisine and unique art are just a few of the treasures hidden in Utah's southerly quadrants.

Proof of the mellow vibe in Moab, Southern Utah's hippest city, is the density of coffee shops here. There is likely one espresso machine for every year-round resident in this hip, eclectic area. Along with caffeine, the surrounding red rock desert and mighty Colorado River are the main fuels for Moab's adrenaline-junkie mindset. Mountain bikers pedal gnarly mountain bike routes including the Porcupine Rim, Slickrock Trail, Portal Trail and Poison Spider Mesa. (Moab Cyclery, 391 S. Main St., 800-559-1978, moabcyclery.com) Rock climbers are drawn like flies to the area's big walls. (For an easy-access glimpse, check out Wall Street, a crag right on the Potash Road located just north of town. Bring a few beers and a lawn chair, and watch climbers dangle off 500-foot sandstone cliff faces.) And river rats revel in the Colorado River's Cataract Canyon and nearby Green River's Desolation Canyon. (Adrift Adventures, 378 N. Main St., 435-259-8594, adrift.net)

Don't be intimidated by Moab's extreme-athlete gestalt. Resident pros peacefully coexist with families from around the world who descend on Moab every summer to soak up the area's stunning sights. Arches National Park (N. Highway 191, 435-719-2299, nps.gov/arch) is home to the world's densest concentration of natural arches, including Delicate Arch, Devil's Garden and the Fiery Furnace. Less than an hour's drive will put you atop the mythical Island in the Sky, a remarkable district of Canyonlands National Park (Hwy. 313, 435-719-2313, nps.gov/cany) that makes you feel as if you are on top of the world. The views from the island encompass thousands of square miles of colorful canyons, mesas and buttes. The great scenery, however, doesn't end with the National Parks. Dead Horse Point State Park is a short drive from Moab (northwest of Moab on U.S. 191 and then 23 miles southwest on Utah 313, 435-259-2614, stateparks.utah.gov) and offers visitors amazing views as the Colorado River snakes and curves 2,000 feet below.

After a day spent hiking, head back into Moab for a little taste of local culture. The Museum of Moab (118 E. Center St., 435-259-7985, moabmuseum.org) offers information about the area's dino finds, geology, pioneer history and what life was like before Brigham Young declared Utah "The Place." One of Moab's best bookstores takes its moniker from Edward Abbey's southern Utah tome, The Monkey Wrench Gang. Recently combined with the sister bookstore Arches Book Company, Back of Beyond Books (83 N. Main St., 435-259-5154, backofbeyondbooks.com) stocks a thoughtful selection of titles spanning natural history, environmental literature, guidebooks and maps, as well as a vast selection of local author's titles and finds for collectors.

Tasty food is available for the discerning palate in Moab. The house-made granola is amazing at the Red Rock Bakery & Net Café (74 S. Main St., 435-259-5941), which also serves homemade bagels, muffins, pastries and, of course, coffee. Fresh, organic cuisine is served for breakfast and lunch at the funky Eklectica Café (352 N. Main St., 435-259-6896). For a post-ride/hike gut bomb, head to Milt's Stop & Eat (356 Mil Creek Dr., 435-259-7424, miltstopandeat.com), where people flock from miles around for burgers, fries and shakes.

Wine Tasting, Here?

Southern Utah may seem like the last place you'd find a winery, but along the banks of the Colorado River just outside of Moab you'll find the Red Cliffs Lodge & Castle Creek Winery (Milepost 14, Highway 128, 435-259-2002, redcliffslodge.com). More than 6,000 gallons of Pinot Noir, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon, Chenin Blanc and Chardonnay wines are produced here every year. Sit on the lodge's back patio, overlooking the river and surrounding red rock cliffs, while sipping a glass of the winery's award-winning White Riesling or Outlaw Red. (Tasting room is open noon to 6:30 p.m.) The property also features a meticulously maintained area film history museum on its lower level. Definitely worth a visit.

Southwest Utah

CEDAR CITY, ZION AND BRYCE CANYON NATIONAL PARKS, ST. GEORGE AND MESQUITE

The magnificent formations in Zion National Park inspired names like Great White Throne, and Bryce's "hoodoos" look like science fiction. But civilized attractions abound in St. George—full of golf courses and restaurants—and the gambling mecca of Mesquite just over the border in Nevada.

Snowbirds, sightseers, students and duffers make up the lion's share of southwest Utah's growing visitor demographic. St. George, once just a pit stop between Salt Lake and Las Vegas, is now southern Utah's largest city, with one of the fastest growing populations in the United States (atozion.org). And after one visit, you'll see why. Within about a 150-mile radius you can access two national parks and one national monument, a ski area, shopping, dining and galleries, nationally renowned golf courses and spas and—just over the state line in Nevada—gambling.

On foot is the best way to experience Bryce Canyon National Park (located 24 miles south of Panguitch). Fifty miles of trails bisect this relatively small national park, including the easy Rim Trail, the lesser traveled Swamp Canyon Trail and the eight-mile, get-your-heart-pumping Fairyland Loop. For a more sedate exposure to Bryce, take a guided horseback ride or helicopter ride.

Cedar City's Tony Award-winning Shakespearean Festival (right) and the brilliant colors of Zion National Park (above) are summer highlights in southwest Utah.

Hiking the Narrows

For an unparalleled Zion National Park experience, trek the Zion Narrows, the most popular hike in the park. The trail is a thrilling slog up the Virgin River. Casual hikers wade through the river from the visitor center at the bottom of the Narrows. The more serious park a shuttle car at the top (Chamberlain's Ranch) and hike 16 miles down the spectacular canyon, with sheer walls, grottos, hanging gardens and natural springs. (If you're planning to spend the night at one of the 12 campsites in the Narrows, you'll need to get a permit 24 hours in advance at the visitor center (zionnational-park.com).

The red spires, both large and small, you'll see throughout the park are known as "hoodoos" and are formed when ice and water wear away the weak limestone, leaving the red rock behind.

Prototypical Western Lodge Ruby's Inn (26 S. Main St., Bryce Canyon City, 435-834-5341, rubysin.com) is the closest lodging to the canyon, and for families the best choice. Or go on to nearby Cedar City (80 miles from Bryce Canyon). Quaint shops and galleries line the shady Main Street here. Outstanding lift-served mountain biking is available at nearby Brian Head Resort (329 S. Highway 143, 866-930-1010, brianhead.com). Cedar Breaks National Monument, an amphitheater of red rock formations similar to Bryce Canyon, is located just 23 miles from Cedar City. Or—surprise!—submerge yourself in the performing arts. Cedar City's Tony Award-winning Utah Shakespeare Festival (435-586-7878, bard.org) runs June 24 through October 19. This season's scheduled plays include The Tempest, Richard II and Love's Labour's Lost, as well as The Marvelous Wonderettes and Cole Porter's Anything Goes.

Just south of I-15 from Cedar City is the granddaddy of Utah national parks, Zion National Park. Zion's soaring towers and monoliths offer a quiet grandeur. Access the park at its northern, lesser-used Kolob Canyon entrance or drive farther along I-15 to Springdale (ranked one of the "20 Prettiest Towns in the U.S." by Forbes Traveler magazine in 2008 and home to many good restaurants), where you can catch the Zion Canyon Shuttle. Park at any of the shuttle stops in Springdale and hop aboard to enjoy what is now the best way to see the park by vehicle (nps.gov/zion).

St. George (atozion.org) is an hour south of Springdale. Here you'll find the nationally famous Red Mountain Spa (1275 E. Red Mountain Circle, Ivins, 435-673-4905, redmountainresort.com), outlet shopping, restaurants and a dozen golf courses. The lightly used Snow Canyon State Park, located just off the road between St. George and Kayenta, is a day-hiker's paradise. Check out the steep but short Cinder Cone trail, leading to the cinder cone responsible for the lava flow covering much of the park. Or try the Whiterocks Trail, offering stunning views as it hugs the edge of the canyon.

From St. George, follow the freeway 40 miles farther south through the Virgin River Gorge (a popular rock climbing destination) to Mesquite, a small, honky-tonkish Nevada desert oasis with Vegas-like casinos and lots of golf courses.

Wasatch Back

PARK CITY, HEBER, MIDWAY AND KAMAS

Using Salt Lake as your base camp, spend a day exploring the other side of the mountains.

Park City

Start your day in Utah's world-famous mountain town by picking up a chocolate or ham and cheese croissant and cup of coffee at Park City's premier bakery and cafe, Windy Ridge (1250 Iron Horse Dr., 435-647-0880, billwhiterestaurantgroup.com). Choose house-made quiche for something heartier and don't forget to pick up a pan of the fantastic ready-made lasagna for supper.

After fueling up, grab your helmet, bike shorts and water bottle and head to Deer Valley (2250 Deer Valley Dr., 435-649-1000, deervalley.com) for lift-served mountain biking. Criss-crossing the resort are more than 60 miles of trails for every level of rider. Use Deer Valley's trail system to connect to other popular trails like Tour des Suds, the Wasatch Crest Trail and the Mid-Mountain Trail. Park City's Rail Trail, extending 30 miles from the Prospector neighborhood to Echo Junction, is a better choice for families with small children. Rent bikes and get trail info at Deer Valley or White Pine Touring (1790 Bonanza Dr., 435-649-8710, whitepinetouring.com).

For lunch, enjoy the mountain views at Deer Valley's Royal Street Café. Or head to Redstone Center and enjoy the best hot dog in the state at Sushi Blue (1571 Redstone Center Dr., 435-575-4272, billwhiterestaurantgroup.com). The all-beef wiener is covered with bacon and kimchi. Besides the Asian fusion dishes, there is a full sushi menu. In the afternoon, visit the Park City Museum (528 Main St., 435-649-7457, parkcityhistory.org), which includes the original territorial jail and a motherlode of cool, interactive exhibits illustrating Park City's notorious mining history. Then head out to the Utah Olympic Park (3419 Olympic Pkwy., 435-658-4200, utaholympiclegacy.com) for adventure activities and 2002 Olympic museums. Return to Main Street in the late afternoon for a little shopping, gallery hopping and an icy whiskey sour on the patio at the High West Distillery (703 Park Ave., 435-649-8300, highwest.com), where you can also take a look at Utah's first legal still since prohibition and buy a bottle of their award-winning Rendezvous Rye or historic mountain-made Valley Tan oat whiskey as a souvenir.

For dinner, Talisker on Main (515 Main St., 801-658-5479, taliskeronmain.com) or Silver (508 Main St., 435-940-1000, silverrestaurant.com) provide the kind of rustic glamor beloved by the Hollywood types who flock here for the Sundance Film Festival (sundance.org).

If it's Wednesday, grab a picnic dinner and bottle of wine and head back to Deer Valley for the free evening concert series (mountain-townmusic.org), 6 to 8 p.m. from June through August. The Utah Symphony also plays at Deer Valley regularly during the summer months (utahsymphony.org). For a romantic dinner for two, Chimayo (368 Main St., 435-649-6222, billwhiterestaurantgroup.com) or 350 Main (350 Main St., 435-649-3140, 350main.com) are both intimate choices. The

Trail Running in the Wasatch Mountains

Wasatch Brew Pub (250 Main St., 435-649-0900, wasatchbeers.com) offers a solid menu and boisterous atmosphere appealing to families.

Heber

For any expedition into the spectacular Uinta Mountain Wilderness area, the town of Heber is the place to pick up food, sunscreen, maps or a shady hat. You can even rent an all-terrain vehicle at Uinta Recreation (1470 S. Highway 40, 801-613-0288, uintarecreation.com). For a taste of what built the American West, take a trip down the twisting Provo Canyon on the Heber Creeper, an authentic, smoke-belching locomotive operated by the Heber Valley Railroad (450 S. 600 West, 435-654-5601, hebervalleyrr.org).

You probably didn't come to Utah to bowl a few frames, but you might want to hit Holiday Lanes (565 N. Main St., 435-654-0372, goheber.com) all the same. This iconic 1950s bowling alley has one of Utah's best-kept secrets—a killer, no-frills grilled-cheese sandwich. For gelato or a salmon BLT, stop at the family owned Spin Cafe (220 N. Main St., 435-654-0851, spincafe.net).

Midway

On the last weekend in August, this town settled by Swiss pioneers celebrates Swiss Days in the Town Square. If golfing is your idea of outdoor adventure, try the high-altitude links at Wasatch Mountain State Park (975 West Golf Course Dr., 435-654-0532, stateparks.utah.gov/parks/wasatch), rated highly by Golf Digest. Blue Boar Inn has an award-winning brunch (1235 Warm Springs Rd., 435-654-8284, theblueboarinn.com). For dinner you'll want to check out Simon's Grill at the Homestead (700 N. Homestead Dr., 888-327-7220, homesteadresort.com) where the fare is hearty but refined, including delights such as salmon in a morel cream. Come Labor Day weekend, canine lovers won't want to miss the Soldier Hollow Sheepdog Classic, where the nation's best herding dogs compete.

Mountain Biking in the Wasatch Mountains

Kamas

If hiking, rock scrambling or mountain biking is your goal, get a hearty jump-off breakfast at Gateway Grill (215 S. Main St., 435-783-2867, gatewaygrille.com) where you can pig out on the port wine-and-apple sauced pork chop. If it's lunchtime when you reach Utah's gateway to State Route 150, Mirror Lake Scenic Byway, grab a burger at Hi Mountain Drug. Salt Lake magazine found it to be the flat-out best in the state (40 N. Main, 435-783-4466). A few miles up the scenic byway, pay a small user fee at a booth before you wind 42 miles through the Uinta Mountains and its hundreds of lakes and trout streams. Get trail information and maps at the Kamas Ranger District office (50 E. Center, 435-783-4338). You'll be on the edge of the 456,705 acres High Uintas Wilderness, a spectacular area with hundreds of glacier-formed lakes and Utah's highest mountain at 13,528 feet, King's Peak. On your way home, it might blow your mind to find an authentic 1930s diner in the middle of Utah's ranching country. Road Island Diner (981 West Weber Canyon Rd., 435-783-3466, roadislanddiner.com). It still offers excellent road-trip grub.

The Real Jurassic Park

Dinosaur National Monument is home to the largest quarry of Jurassic period dinosaur bones ever discovered. Though the monument's headquarters is in Dinosaur, Colo. www.nps.gov/dino/, the fossils—more than 2,000—are all in Utah. The welcome center is just off Hwy. 40 in Jensen, 435-789-6932, dinoland.com.

South by Northwest

SUNDANCE, OGDEN AND THE GREAT SALT LAKE

Sundance, Golden Spike, iconic land art and a railroad town reborn: Spend a day (or two) exploring these destinations, each located within a day's drive of Salt Lake.

The Great Salt Lake

The best way to experience the Great Salt Lake is at Antelope Island State Park (4528 W. 1700 South, Syracuse, 801-773-2941, stateparks.utah.gov). To reach the island, drive north on I-15 to exit 332. Follow the signs to the causeway. Besides the amazing views and a restored cattle ranch, you'll find bison, raptors, coyotes, chukars and antelope.

Winter and spring are great times to enjoy the stark beauty of the lake. The quickest way is a drive to the marina at Great Salt Lake State Park (16 miles west of Salt Lake City on Interstate 80, exit 104, 801-250-1898, stateparks.utah.gov). On the way you'll see the historic Saltair, an all-ages concert venue that was once a resort known as the Coney Island of the West.

Before you head out, start with breakfast at Sill's Café (335 E. Gentile St., Layton, 801-544-7438). Specialties at this greasy spoon include scones (resembling Indian fry bread) with honey butter and breakfast items, all with the option to be served with S.O.S.—a spicy, brown gravy with bits of hamburger.

Everybody knows Utah is one of the most beautiful landscapes on earth, but you may not know it's also home to world-renowned contemporary art. On the northern arm of the Great Salt Lake lies landart pioneer Robert

Spiral Jetty

Antelope Island

The Great Salt Lake

Smithson's Spiral Jetty (45-minute drive south of Golden Spike National Monument, about 32 miles west of Brigham City, spiraljetty.org). Made of black basalt rock, the 1,500-foot sculpture unwinds into the lake at Rozel Point. In the desert west of the Spiral Jetty you can visit artist Nancy Holt's equally impressive Sun Tunnels (about 200 miles northwest of Salt Lake City, near the ghost town of Lucin), an installation of concrete culverts that track the winter and summer solstice. The works are remote, so check the weather and pack plenty of water and food before making either trip. The Spiral Jetty is periodically submerged; you can check its status at the Great Salt Lake Institute, 801-832-2308, westminstercollege.edu/great_salt_lake_institute.

Ogden

Utah's earliest pioneer settlement, Ogden served as a railway hub through much of its history. If you're curious as to why, visit the place the connecting rails of the Transcontinental Railroad were laid at Golden Spike National Monument (nps.gov/gosp). In recent years, this crossroads of the West has refashioned itself into a base camp for mountain adventure. Ogden has developed a sophisticated dining scene, including the Sonora Grill (2310 Kiesel Ave., 801-393-1999, thesonoragrill.com) offering creative Mexican cuisine. Slackwater Pub & Pizzeria (1895 Washington Blvd., 801-399-0637, slackwaterpizzeria.com) offers riverside dining, including artisan-style pizza, a vast selection of beers and wine, all with live music. For a memorable dinner, there's Hearth on 25th (195 Historic 25th St., 801-399-0088, hearth25.com), selected best restaurant in Northern Utah by Salt Lake magazine. Railroad buffs won't want to miss the Utah Railroad Museum (2501 Wall Avenue, 801-393-9886, theunionstation.org). An excellent way to visit this city of transportation history—while taking in the panorama of the Wasatch Front—is to hop on the FrontRunner train (801-743-3882, rideuta.com) that links Salt Lake and Ogden.

Sundance/Timpanogos

South of Salt Lake City in Provo Canyon, Robert Redford's Sundance Resort (8841 N. Alpine Loop Road., 877-831-6224, sundanceresort.com) offers fine restaurants including the Foundry Grill for a hearty breakfast (Joe's Special or the housemade granola are particularly satisfying) with a side of Sundance Resort views.

Now, it's decision time: Pack some water and a picnic lunch at the Sundance Deli and hike Mt. Timpanogos through meadows of wildflowers? Or explore the marvels of Timanogos Cave National Monument (801-756-5238, nps.gov/tica/)? Or hire a fly fishing guide (Sundance Mountain Outfitters, 8841 N. Alpine Loop Road, 801-223-4121, sundanceresort.com), and head to the renowned Provo River? Sundance's

Art Shack offers two hour-long, reserved art classes every day, including jewelry-making, wheel-thrown pottery, painting and photography. The Art Shack also offers classes for kids.

There's horseback riding, hiking and mountain biking, too.

In the afternoon, make a beeline to Sundance's Native American-inspired spa (especially if you hiked Timpanogos), a serene yet cozy space where expert aestheticians rub away any residual stress you didn't get rid of on the trail, in the river or at the Art Shack.

(The spa is a short distance from the base area; hike up or take a free shuttle.)

Be sure to leave time to hit the Owl Bar before dinner. (And after, if you like.) This cozy speakeasy features a bar moved to Sundance from Thermopolis, Wyo. The restored 1890s bar is the original Rosewood Bar once frequented by Butch Cassidy's Hole-in-the-Wall Gang. Local and regional bands heat up the scene here on the weekends.

End your day with what will likely be one of the best meals you've ever had at the Tree Room, recipient of the prestigious AAA Four-Diamond award and the Wine Spectator award. The food is creative and locally inspired (wild game is the star of the menu), and the atmosphere is romantic, with candlelight accenting the Native American art from Redford's collection.

Wild Blue Yonder

Hill Aerospace Museum is one of the world's most extensive and meticulously kept flight museums, complete with a research library and restoration shops that have preserved more than 90 airplanes and helicopters from around the globe. Classics include the mammoth B-17, B-29 and B-52 bombers, an SR-71C Blackbird, the homely A-10 Thunderbolt, a Soviet MiG 17 and a shark-toothed P-40 Warhawk, along with displays of the munitions they hauled aloft. PARK CITY AND BEYOND

Yes, Park City, Utah is a recreational playground. No, the fun doesn't stop here. The surrounding mountains and meadows of Eastern Summit County have the activities to please the most discerning vacationers. You, for example.

Visitor Information Center

PARK CITY'S VISITOR INFORMATION CENTER

Your first—and smartest—stop in Park City will put you face to face with a living, breathing vacation expert. Stop by for coffee and insider advice to plan your stay.

Rafting on Weber River

KAYAKING & RAFTING

The rivers and reservoirs of Eastern Summit County have as much water recreation opportunities as they do trout. Guided tours and equipment rentals will let you explore it all.

RAIL TRAIL

This 28-mile trail takes hikers and bikers from Park City to Echo Reservoir as it meanders through wetland meadows and along the Weber River.

ECHO RESERVOIR

Whether you're seeking trout or a day of mountain biking, horseback riding, camping or canoeing, Echo Reservoir is an understandably popular destination.

PARK CITY

We could fill this magazine with Park City's activities—everything from endless hiking and biking trails to hot air ballooning to zip lines to, well, you get the idea.

MIRROR LAKE

Named for the way it perfectly reflects the mountains that surround it, a scenic drive here by way of the Mirror Lake Highway could be the highlight of your trip.

Mirror Lake

FISHING

Want to try a little fishing beyond Echo Reservoir? Weber River and the other local reservoir, Rockport, are fully stocked with browns, rainbows, cutthroats and enjoyment.

FEEL AT HOME AND STAY AT A Bed & Breakfast

Historic mansions and homes are among the most memorable places to stay in Salt Lake City. From rustic character to refined elegance, these classic B&Bs are reminders of a simpler time, yet provide sophisticated comforts. Explore—and relax—at any one of these historic-meets-modern bed and breakfasts while you're in Salt Lake.

Ellerbeck Mansion

After touring downtown Salt Lake's sights, rest is tucked five blocks away at Ellerbeck Mansion (140 B St., 800-966-8364, ellerbeckbedandbreakfast.com) in the city's historic Avenues district. Guests are welcomed by sparkling chandeliers, stained-glass windows and two fireplaces in the parlors. Rooms, such as Calm Seas and Summer Hill, conjure peaceful notions of tranquility. Evening turndown service and chocolates complement the attention to detail displayed in the seasonal patterns and colors adorning each room. Gourmet breakfasts cater to individual taste and time preference, and other complimentary services encourage relaxation in this elegant home-away-from-home.

Haxton Manor

English charm characterizes Haxton Manor (943 E. South Temple, 877-930-4646, haxtonmanor.com), just minutes away from downtown.

Enjoy room service or breakfast in bed while lounging on luxurious fabrics in seven rooms reminiscent of medieval England. Stay in the Cambridge, Sussex, Windsor or Hampton rooms, or surround yourself with the ambience of a traditional English library in the Bristol suite. Natural color palettes and decor resemble the subtle impression of an old countryside castle. The charm would not be complete without the manor's traditional Boar's Head Pub Room. The pub has no liquor license, but guests are welcome to bring beverages.

Inn on the Hill

Just down the hill from Utah's Capitol Building, Inn on the Hill

The Swiss Family Robinson room at Anniversary Inn (right) and guest accommodations at Haxton Manor (below) and Ellerbeck Mansion (below right).

(225 N. State St., 801-328-1466, inn-on-the-hill.com) has become the classic Utah bed and breakfast. Its 13 rooms are themed to celebrate Utah's iconic landmarks, including Arches, Escalante, Sundance and Zion. The different patterns, colors and textures of Utah's natural landscapes are incorporated in the red-vein black stone, travertine tile, marble vanities and hardwood floors found throughout the inn. Continental and hot breakfasts are available to accommodate guests hitting trails early or those just enjoying city life. And don't forget the view. Whether gazing north to the Capitol Building, south to the city, west to the lake or east to the mountains, this inn encompasses everything Utah.

Anniversary Inn

Whether it's off to a new place in the world or the imagination, Anniversary Inn (678 E. South Temple and 460 S. 1000 East, 801-363-4900, anniversaryinn.com)—in two Salt Lake locations—takes you there. At the second location on the hill east of downtown, 36 designed rooms open the door to real and imaginary destinations. Travel to Venice, Egypt, Cape Cod, Hawaii or Tuscany, or try living out classic novels by staying in the Phantom of the Opera's chamber, The Swiss Family Robinson's tree house or a meadow scene from Twilight. If you can't decide, the inn offers a sneak peek into rooms with 30 minute tours, 1–3 p.m. daily. Whether it's romance, adventure or something in between, another room is always waiting to be explored. So take a vacation within your vacation. No extra airfare required.

Silver Fork Lodge

Leave the city and lose track of time entirely by staying at the historic Silver Fork Lodge (11332 E. Big Cottonwood Canyon Rd., 801-533-9977, silverforklodge.com) up Big Cottonwood Canyon. The lodge stands in the original general store location with the 100-year-old homestead wall still in place. Even the famous sourdough pancakes are made from a 50-year-old starter. Modern mountain men and women can explore Guardsman Pass or Sunset Peak by day and recount their adventures at night in the rustic and charming full-service restaurant. Adventure comes to the door here, with moose frequenting the lodge's deck. Hit the sack in old-fashioned comfort and wake up to stunning mountain views.

Different by Nature.
