Welcome to Schuylkill County PENNSYLVANIA

The story of Yuengling is the story of the American Spirit. It's a tale of shared dreams, individual tenacity, and an unwavering dedication to standards of quality. Like many American stories it starts amid the dreams of countless young immigrants looking for opportunity and emerges from the strength and will of one family determined to build their legacy in a new country. The story of America's Oldest Brewery began when David G. Yuengling arrived from Wuerttemberg Germany to settle in the sleepy, coal-mining town of Pottsville, Pennsylvania in 1829. And it hasn't stopped yet. Visit America's Oldest Brewery this year to experience one family's American Dream.

The anthracite coal industry in Schuylkill County was a pivotal force that fueled the Industrial Revolution in America. The discovery of the "black diamond" in this region allowed it to produce energy that powered canal boats, moved steam engines, and drove the creation of factories and industry not only along the Schuylkill River in places like Reading, Norristown, and Philadelphia, but across the entire country. This rich mining heritage drew a diverse group of immigrants—including German, Irish, English, Welch, and various Eastern European peoples—who were the workers toiling in the mines. Today, attractions like the Pioneer Tunnel Coal Mine and No. 9 Mine showcase the region's history, preserving the story of the heroic efforts of the miners and their families whose labor powered the industrial age of America.

Schuylkill County possesses a rich military service history that spans from the colonial era to the Civil War and beyond. During the French and Indian War and the subsequent Pontiac Wars, the area was a frontier defense line, seeing Indian raids and the construction of forts like Fort Franklin. As part of Berks County during the Revolutionary War, the area contributed troops, with Captain George Nagel's company being one of the first from the county to join the Continental Army. The Civil War, however, is a deeply felt chapter in the county's history, with local units like the 129th PA Volunteer Infantry seeing action in major battles such as Fredericksburg. The sacrifices of local soldiers, including the story of drummer boy Jeremiah Helms who died at Antietam, are commemorated by groups like the Jere K. Helms Post No. 26 of veterans in Schuylkill Haven. Today, the county's dedication to this heritage is visible in landmarks like the Schuylkill County Historical Society, which is located in the historic Centre Street Grammar School, a building constructed during the Civil War.

Schuylkill County is a natural treasure trove for outdoor recreation, featuring numerous opportunities for both residents and visitors. The county is home to a segment of the Appalachian Trail and includes the Schuylkill River and its trail system, which are perfect for activities like hiking, biking, kayaking, and paddleboarding. Another key highlight is the Hawk Mountain Sanctuary, a world-renowned destination for observing the autumn migration of birds of prey, where trails offer a spectacular 200-degree panorama atop the famed North Lookout. With plentiful state forest lands, three state parks, and innumerable lakes and streams, visitors can also enjoy camping, fishing, swimming, hunting, and birdwatching.
