3-DAY ITINERARY

Football Fanatic

12s and sports fans alike love watching football games from CenturyLink Field. Seattle Southside is the ideal place to stay when you're in town for a game. Here's your ideal itinerary for catching a hawk's game and having some fun before and after.

Sharp's Roasthouse

Day 1

Check in to your hotel Friday evening. Don't know where to stay? We've got plenty of local hotels, all close to the Link Light Rail, that offer "touchdown" packages for football games. Once you're checked in, you're probably going to be about ready for dinner. Fancy yourself a carnivore? Sharp's Roasthouse in SeaTac is the place for you. They've got delicious prime rib, BBQ pulled pork, seafood and more. There's no way you're leaving this place hungry.

Sykart Indoor Racing

Day 2

Saturday should be a free day (we're assuming the game is on Sunday) so you'll have plenty of time to see the sights in Seattle Southside. If you're staying in SeaTac, you should take advantage of the FREE shuttle to Westfield Southcenter, the largest shopping center in the state. You'll find plenty of boutiques and big box stores here and if you need to gear up for the game, there's a Seattle Team Shop with everything you need.

After your shopping spree, it's time for an adrenaline rush. Right down the street from Westfield sits a high-octane go-karting heaven, Sykart. The engines on these go-karts are so extreme that you typically need to have a driver's license to race here. However, the weekends allow for kids eight years of age and older to have a spin. After your race is over, head back to Westfield and enjoy some delicious, local seafood at Duke's Chowder House.

Duke's is known for their chowder, but they've got all sorts of delectable treats from the Pacific. Parents can dine on Dungeness crab stuffed halibut while the kids enjoy fish and chips or chicken strips. Duke's is the reigning TripAdvisor king of Tukwila, currently holding the #1 spot, so it is a must-try for visitors to the area.

After lunch, take the escalator up to Round 1 for some bowling, gaming, and karaoke. This entertainment megaplex offers a good time for everyone and it's easy to spend more than you'd like trying to rescue the tsum tsums from their claw machine dungeon, but when you've finally had your fill, take a trip across the street to Odin Brewing for dinner. Odin serves up delicious homemade barbecue that pairs perfectly with the Norse-inspired beers. Once you've had enough Viking brew and eats to satisfy your appetite, you should probably call it a night to get a good night's sleep before the game.

Oden Brewing Co.

Day 3

On Sunday, wake up early and enjoy some breakfast at your hotel. After that, take the light rail north to the Stadium station. Follow the crowd, and within a few minutes, you'll find yourself in the glory of CenturyLink Field! A Seahawks game is an experience unlike any other. It's no myth that it gets loud (and stays that way) during games, so if you have a young child, you better bring some earplugs or headphones. Grab some chicken and waffles or street tacos and cheer on with the 12s as they try to rattle the visiting team. Trust us, it works!

After the game, simply hop back on the light rail and return to your hotel. If you're still hungry, take the Westfield shuttle one more time and grab some dinner at the Cheesecake Factory. Because nothing caps off a day of football like a slice of salted caramel or lemon meringue cheesecake. Go Hawks!
