FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Witness the Thrill of SpaceX's 7th Starship Test Flight From the Stunning Shores of South Padre Island

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Texas, January 10, 2025 – Space enthusiasts, get ready for an unforgettable experience! SpaceX's 7th Starship test flight is currently estimated to take place as early as Monday, January 13, 2025, at 4 p.m. While this date and time is likely to change, we encourage visitors to be flexible with their plans. As the premier destination for Starship viewing, the island offers a unique combination of scenic beachfront and unparalleled access to this awe-inspiring launch.

"South Padre Island is the ultimate location to witness history in the making," said Blake Henry, Visit South Padre Island Executive Director. "With our beautiful beaches and close proximity to the launch site, visitors can enjoy an incredible view of the SpaceX Starship test flight while also exploring everything our island has to offer."

To increase the likelihood of witnessing this historic event, visitors are encouraged to plan a three- to four-day stay on the island. This groundbreaking test flight showcases the innovation of the tallest, most powerful, and only fully reusable rocket in development, and it's sure to captivate spectators from around the world. Launch dates and times are subject to change due to weather conditions or technical adjustments by SpaceX. With a longer stay, guests can fully embrace the island's charm while maximizing their chances of viewing the launch.

Don't miss the opportunity to be part of this groundbreaking moment in space exploration. Join us on South Padre Island to experience the thrill of a SpaceX Starship launch alongside breathtaking coastal views and warm island hospitality.
