Introduction

This trail takes in 21 pubs and bars around Leek town centre, plus a selection of shops and markets, all offering some of the UK's finest ales and beers. The pubs and bars along the trail all have something different to offer.

Some are traditional pubs in period buildings, others are modern establishments with a focus on dining. All, however have been selected for their welcoming atmosphere, comfortable surroundings and of course, the range of ales available.

All the venues are within walking distance of one another. However there are so many great places to visit that you can't possibly see them all in one trip so come back again and enjoy your favourite beer in another of Leek's excellent pubs.

5 The Blue Mugge

17 Osborne Street, Leek, ST13 6LJ. 01538 384450

A regular entry in the Good Beer Guide. The Blue Mugge offers a good selection of keg beers and bitters including offerings from local and regional breweries. 'The Blue Mugge' was named after the present landlord's father found the original 'Blue Mugge' in the attic. A visitor wishing to join the regulars in the 'Blue Mugge Room' would be informed that he had to buy the inhabitants of the room a drink, this was a test of character, and if the person agreed, the occupants would produce the blue mugge, a glass that was only a third of a pint. The pub offers home cooked food in comfortable surroundings and features live music on occasion.

7 The Fountain

14 Fountain Street, Leek, ST13 6JR. 01538 387205

The Fountain is a traditional pub with 8 different real ales on at any one time and regularly features in the Good Beer Guide. This is a dog friendly pub with a great atmosphere. A place to come and relax with your family.

6 The Earl Grey

38 Ashbourne Road, Leek, ST13 5AT.

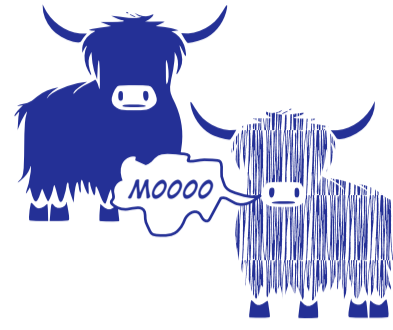

The Earl Grey Inn is a traditional corner pub. It was first registered as a 'Beer-House' in 1831. All manner of wines & spirits have been served since a full license was granted in 1962. Despite refurbishment in 2014, when it also became a Free House, the pub still has time-honoured upholstered long pub benches, cast iron tables, and stools throughout, helping retain the atmosphere of it being a traditional 'street corner boozier'. Pickled eggs and a log-burning stove are merely finishing touches.

8 The Cattle Market

Fountain Street, Leek, ST13 6JR. 01538 528198

The Cattle Market is a traditional town centre pub located near to the site of the old livestock market. Marston's Burton Bitter and Jennings Sneck Lifter are always available along with 1 changing guest ale. The pub has a pool and darts room and features live music on the last Friday of the month.

Brewce's is a craft ale bar hosting 11 taps of the best craft ales in the country. Also available are 3 real ciders and a good selection of wine, spirits and over 10 speciality rums.

9 The Roebuck

18 Derby Street, Leek, ST13 5AB. 01538 385602

This Grade II listed 17th Century coaching inn boasts an impressive timber framed frontage and a traditional pub interior in keeping with the historic town centre. Owned by Titanic Brewery, The Roebuck offers a selection of 10 cask ales, the majority from the Titanic range alongside others from guest breweries. Helpful and knowledgeable bar staff are always willing to describe the different styles of beer on offer, and bottled Titanic beers are also available to take away. The pub also features a beer garden with outside bar. There is regular live music, and a weekly pub quiz held every Thursday.

13 Den Engel

11 Stanley Street, Leek, ST13 5HG. 01538 373751

Den Engel is a unique and long established Belgian bar with 19 keg lines, 4 cask lines and over 50 bottled beers. As well as the Belgian offering, there is also a range of other continental and UK craft beers. You will find a friendly atmosphere, quirky décor and a beautiful outside courtyard for those sunny days. Den Engel is also dog friendly and a great place for families (their licence allows children under 16yrs before 8pm).
