

Good afternoon,

Below are two updates from CRA that I wanted to pass along. Thank you for all you continue to do to decrease the spread of COVID.

New Takeout Alcohol Container Regulations Begin November 1

Starting on November 1, new regulations go into effect for takeout and delivery alcohol containers from a restaurant. The new regulations require all containers of takeout or delivery alcohol comply with the following:

- Container must be a rigid container.
- The container cannot be made of paper or polystyrene foam.
- The lid or cap on the container must be designed to prevent consumption without removal of the lid or cap.
- Container must be sealed in a way that is “tamper evident” in order to tell if the container has been opened.
- The lid on the container cannot have a sipping holes or an opening for a straw.
- All takeout and delivery orders shall be affixed with a label containing a warning statement, with a minimum fourteen (14) font size, stating: "WARNING: DO NOT OPEN OR REMOVE SEAL WHILE IN TRANSIT." For a printable example, click here.

All other rules for takeout and delivery alcohol from a restaurant still apply.

CRA Winter Outdoor Seating

Visit CRA website for their virtual restaurant and bar show including winter outdoor space planning.

- Click "Get Cadence Here."
- You have to sign up for a Cadence account (free) then can access the sessions.
- Once in Cadence, scroll down the left hand side to Collections and you can access all the recordings and materials.
- Phil Armstrong speaks in a winter outdoor seating session on the yurts they are working on.

As always, reach out to Nick, Mark or I if you need anything.

Thanks,
Kara
