3 WALKS IN Llanrhidian Higher

Llanrhidian Higher Orange Route

Walk in an anti-clockwise direction

Distance: 7.5 km or 4.6 miles • Estimated time: 2 hours

From the school in Three Crosses, cross to the top of the bank and follow the road westwards to the Joiners public house. Take the path opposite the pub, which leads down a delightful valley. Bear left at the fork after about 200 metres. The path follows the stream valley through an ancient landscape. After a kilometre, the route begins to climb slightly through pleasant fields before ending at Cefn Stytle Road. Turn left along the road through Wern Olau and where the road forks, bear right for 400 metres. Look out for the entrance to the path, which leads through Tir Cethin. Travel straight through the farm yard, and continue down the steep path into the Cedi Valley, (there is a bridge to cross the stream at the bottom). The path climbs steeply up the other side of the valley, (it may be difficult to see the path here but make fairly directly for the top and you will see the line).

Crossing the broad ridge leading to Pant Glas Farm you will see exceptional and unusual views down the Cedi Valley to Penclawdd. Dropping to Pant Glas you will find the path along the hedge east of the drive leading to the road. At the road bear right and after about 200 metres turn left down the lane past old farm buildings. You will then drop down to the Morlais Valley through some lovely woodland and common. The path joins up with a surfaced track as far as Cwm Nant Uchaf; look for the path leading off to the left hereabouts – it winds pleasantly across common and through trees for about 300 metres and then veers right to cross the Morlais stream.

It now leads directly across open common land to Mynydd Bach Y Cox and meets the Cilonnen Road near a cattle grid. Follow the road eastwards towards Three Crosses for 400 metres. At the point where it turns sharply left, look for a path which leads across fields to Tir Mynydd Farm, where it once again meets up with the tarmac road. Cross the road and follow Chapel Road back up to the school where you started.
