Fun Facts

* The first Giant Slalom race in the US took place on April 4, 1937, in Tuckerman Ravine.

* In 1938 Mount Cranmore developed a unique and interesting new lift called a Skimobile. A wooden road, or trestle, was built up the mountain and one-person cars were pulled up the trestle with a cable. The cars were colorful, eye-catching, and loved by many people, but the Skimobile was slow and expensive to run.

* In 1958, the first ski area in North America to install a gondola was at Wildcat Mountain in Pinkham Notch.

* When Hannes Schneider came to North Conway to be the Skimeister in 1939, the town became the center of ski instruction in America. He was from Austria and famous internationally for his teaching system called the Arlberg Technique.
