A GLIMPSE INTO LONG ISLAND'S FAMED GOLD COAST

Travel back to an era bygone with a visit to the Gold Coast. Journey to a world filled with elegance and opulence, where the architectural style defined the extravagance of the Gilded Age through the Roaring Twenties. The North Shore of Long Island is home to America's historic Gold Coast, where grand estates once frequented by the who's who of society are now open to visitors who wish to relive history. Personified in the classic novel "The Great Gatsby," the early 20th-century mansions have a history as lavish as their interiors. The following estates are currently still open to the public for tours and events.

OHEKA CASTLE

Resting majestically on the highest point of Long Island emanates the elegant refinement of a chateau in France coupled with world-class service and a rich history that is distinctly American.

Financier and philanthropist Otto Hermann Kahn built Oheka Castle a century ago in Cold Spring Harbor. During the Gilded Age of the 1920s, Kahn used the 109,000-square-foot estate as a summer home where he hosted lavish parties and regularly entertained royalty, heads of state and Hollywood stars.

Today, following a $30 million restoration, Oheka Castle has earned a reputation as one of the most recognized prestigious wedding venues around the world and has been the backdrop of many famous music, television, film and photo productions.

OLD WESTBURY GARDENS

One of the most magnificent of the Gold Coast mansions, Old Westbury Gardens features a lavish English-style house, as well as 200 acres of formal gardens. The palette of what is in bloom changes with the seasons and every week. Be transported to a different age while exploring the landscaped grounds and woodlands along with the ponds and lakes.

Completed by an English designer in 1906, Old Westbury Gardens was the home of John S. Phipps, heir to the steel fortune, along with his wife and children. The mansion was created as an American representation of Phipps's wife Margarita's old family estate in Battle Abbey.

Today, Old Westbury Gardens welcomes visitors of all ages for guided tours of the house and gardens. Old Westbury Gardens has been recognized in various publications for its beautiful architectural and floral garden design.

SANDS POINT PRESERVE

Sands Point Preserve rests on the original Guggenheim Estate, which embodies the elegance and opulence definitive of the Gold Coast during the early 20th century. Sands Point was the famed "East Egg" of F. Scott Fitzgerald's "The Great Gatsby."

Four different mansions occupy the Guggenheim Estate, each with unique style. The different castles include the Hempstead House, Castle Gould, Falaise and Mille Fleur. The Hempstead House illustrates the extraordinary lifestyle of the roaring 1920s and the 1930s, when the family hosted grand parties, performances and exhibitions by world-class artists, and gatherings of the powerful elite of the time. Castle Gould was the first of the mansions on the estate and modeled after Ireland's Kilkenny Castle. Falaise embodies the Medieval and Renaissance era with antiques from the 16th and 17th century.

Today, the beautiful 216-acre park and preserve along with the four mansions on the estate are open to visitors for exploration into a time rich in culture, history and distinct architecture.

EAGLE'S NEST ESTATE

William K. Vanderbilt II was heir to one of America's greatest fortunes and traveled the world collecting marine and cultural artifacts for the museum and mansion he built on Long Island in 1910. Eagle's Nest boasts 43 acres of waterfront estate in Centerport, with a 24-room Spanish-Revival mansion filled with priceless art and furnishings.

Built by renowned architects Warren and Wetmore, designers of New York City's Grand Central Station and the New York Central Railroad, the stunning Spanish Revival-style mansion offers an intimate look at the life of a privileged family from the Jazz Age through World War II.

Listed on the National Register of Historic Places, Eagle's Nest is a time capsule with decor and artwork left exactly as the Vanderbilt family left it, a true present-day "living museum" for visitors looking to travel back in time.

Additional mansions on Long Island's Gold Coast include Glen Cove Mansion, Childs Frick Estate, Mill Neck Manor and Coe Hall at Planting Fields Arboretum.

As the oldest standing restaurant in Patchogue, the Pine Grove Inn draws culinary inspiration from an enduring and unique history.

The landmark Pine Grove Inn building dates back to 1910, named for the original log cabin structure built from the pine trees characteristic of Long Island's south shore. In those days, Patchogue was a bustling commercial center for fishing, shipbuilding, oyster farming, as well as a popular vacation spot for city folk. The cozy 14-room hotel and eatery soon became a fixture in Patchogue, popular among locals and vacationers alike.

During the Prohibition Era, legend holds that Pine Grove was a hotspot for rum-runners and bootleggers, who would smuggle contraband up the Swan River from nearby Fire Island and store it at the inn.

In 1946, the Pine Grove Inn was purchased by the Buttner family and converted into a full-time, German-style restaurant. The Buttners had immigrated to the United States from Germany, and dreamed of opening a restaurant of their own. After some big renovations, their hard work had paid off — business was booming, and Pine Grove became the go-to place on the south shore for schlachtplatte, schnitzel, and other traditional German fare.

The Pine Grove Inn changed hands once more in 1957, when the Buttners sold it to fellow German immigrants Erna and Rudy Bernreiter, themselves experienced restaurateurs. For the next several decades, they continued the tradition of serving up classic German favorites to generations of Long Islanders.

In 2012, as Superstorm Sandy swept over the south shore of Long Island, the Pine Grove Inn experienced severe flooding that would put the restaurant on a 4-year hiatus. But all was not lost — inspired by his own fond memories of the Pine Grove Inn, Michael Goberdhan bought the property and spent a year renovating and rehabilitating the property, officially re-opening in 2016.

Today, the Pine Grove Inn retains the same charm from those early years, treating diners to beautiful waterfront views, great cocktails, and delicious food. You can still find those traditional German dishes that hark back to the Buttner/Bernreiter days, like Classic Saurbraten: slowly marinated pot roast served with tender red cabbage and a potato pancake, prepared just like it was in the 40's. The revamped menu also makes room for new history, with dishes that preserve Patchogue's reputation as a top culinary destination on Long Island.
